STRIKING LOGGERS MARCHING TO ALBERNI

Britain And U.S. To State Stand On Orient Events

Japan Is Expected to Repeat Its "Hands Off China" Warning to League of Nations at Sessions Next Month; Rome Suggests European Nations Present United Front to Japan

"Open Door" May End, Say French

The Japanese warning to the world to keep its hands off China is construed in various Occidental capitals as a "Monroe Doctrine for Asia," according to Canadian Press and Associated Press dispatches received by The Times to-day.

Japan issued a warning that while e had no objection to other nations giving financial and technical sistance to China, such assistance nost inevitably leads to political ddling and, henceforth, Japan will to it, by force if necessary, that ere is no meddling in China. The response everywhere was imediate.

ILL STATE ATTITUDE

The authoritative reaction in Lonn was that Great Britain would low the lead of the United States expressing a stand on the matter. Ambassador Saito informed Washton he would give it an official sion of the text of the Japanese claration and State Department ficials remained silent pending its rival.

GENEVA

It was understood in Geneva Japan uld repeat its warning directly to League of Nations, which will disss a plan for Chinese assistance xt month.

"BRAIN TRUST" STARTS WORK

First Meeting of Economic Council Wednesday; Delve Into Many Problems

While members of the government are in Ottawa trying to straighten out British Columbia's financial situation and to secure the monetary assistance necessary to implement its recovery schemes, the Economic Council here next week will prepare the foundation for development of the recovery policies during the coming year.

Professor W. A. Carrothers, chairman of the council, announced this morning the group would hold its first meeting next Wednesday morning at 10.30 o'clock.

Mainly for the purposes of organization and general discussion of its objectives, the meeting is expected to also consider the schedule of subjects recently drafted by the chairman and will probably decide the order of precedence in which they will be taken up.

The programme already prepared is comprehensive in its scope and lays out a rather big undertaking for the council. Behind it all lies the same motive which has sent half of the B.C. cabinet speeding eastward to ask Ottawa for help, that of taking British Columbians off the relief lists and placing them back in gainful employment.

Premier Pattullo and his ministers will ask something like $8,000,000 from Ottawa, but a good deal of this is needed to offset the deficit in the current budget and to meet other obligations.

There must be some funds for the stimulation of employment, however, the Premier inststs. Since Ottawa proposes a comparatively small public works programme, it now appears unlikely the provincial government will attempt a direct works scheme but will direct its energies toward the encouragement of industrial endeavor and individual initiative. The job of the Economic Council is to determine along which lines these energies can best be expended with the best economic return.

MONTREAL MAY HAVE "SENATE"

The newspaper added: "Creation f a body of perhaps twelve outtanding citizens of the metropolis hose relation to the elected city ouncil would resemble that of he Senate to the Commons at Otawa or the Legislative Council of e Legislative Assembly of Quebec, one of the projects of Mayor amillien Houde which will posibly see the light of day not later han next week."

GOLD TAX HITS B.C. $833,000

Average Return For Metal Would Still Be Higher Than Last Year, However

Ottawa's new gold tax, based upon a production approximating that of last year and the present price of the precious metal will mean an extra contribution to federal coffers of between $800,000 and $900,000 from British Columbia this year.

Figures supplied by the provincial Department of Mines show the B.C. gold production last year as 238,000 ounces. At the rate of $3.50 an ounce which the tax would raise on a $35 gold price, this amounts to $833,000, but production this year is expected to exceed the 1933 figure.

However, the average price for gold last year was $28.61 an ounce, so that even with the tax deducted, the producers will receive a large return per ounce this year, provided the price does not drop to the $30 minimum which is taxed.

Statistics on the leading B.C. mines indicate that Pioneer, with an output of approximately 90,000 ounces would have to pay $315,000 tax, and Bralorne, producing 45,000 ounces, would pay $157,000.

William Maynard Creditors Order Special Inquiry Under Bankruptcy Act

Inquiry by the superintendent of bankruptcy under Section 174 of the Bankruptcy Act into the financial affairs of William Maynard was ordered to-day by formal resolution passed at the official bankruptcy meeting of creditors at the Courthouse to-day.

This action was taken after H. G. Hinton, custodian, reported that Mr. Maynard's total liabilities now run to about $85,000, against which the custodian said assets are almost nil.

When Registrar Brian Trywhitt Drake, accompanied by Mr. Hinton and official accountants entered the court, they found the public gallery occupied by men and women creditors.

At the barristers' tables were the following counsel representing clients, W. C. Moresby, K.C.; Harry J. Davis, F. G. Fowkes, P. J. Sinnott, Forrest L. Shaw, W. P. Marchant, Norman Whittaker, A. J. Patton, Thomas Miller, R. D. Harvey, Harold Beckwith, W. M. M. Haldane, H. W. Davey, Knox Courtney, John L. Clay, G. Stott, Joseph B. Clearihue, F. R. Leighton and J. Y. Copeman.

Mr. Maynard entered the courtroom early and took a seat by himself in the petit jury box.

It took Mr. Drake ten minutes to call the roll of creditors. Those in court, or their lawyers, answered "present" or "here," when their names were called.

At the conclusion of the roll call lawyers and others notified the registrar of claims that had not previously been submitted.

STATEMENT READ

Mr. Drake then read the statement of liabilities and assets submitted by Mr. Maynard himself. In this he listed $59,772 owing to unsecured creditors and $12,454 to secured creditors. His total assets, including stock, fittings, book debts, furniture, property, and life policies, he placed at $10,223.

Some lawyers rose to challenge the details of the figures, but Mr. Drake pointed out that they were the figures of Mr. Maynard himself, and creditors could accept them in any way they liked.

The written reply of Mr. Maynard to bankruptcy court questions as to the reasons for his bankruptcy were read by Mr. Drake. The reasons given included interest charges, deflation of capital, and bad investments in a B.C. foot hospital.

At the suggestion of P. J. Sinnott and H. J. Davis the meeting elected H. G. Hinton as trustee. The following inspectors were then named: A. E. Haynes, H. A. Beckwith and T. W. C. Hawkins.

CUSTODIAN'S REPORT

Custodian Hinton reported the results of his investigations during the last two weeks since the bankruptcy was filed and Sheriff Goggin closed

Trouble Feared As Large Body of Men Near Logging Camp To Stop Operations

Two Hundred Men Set Out From Parksville This Morning, Some Being Carried By Trucks in Relays

Reported to Be Approaching Police Cordon at Great Central Lake Dam; Alberni Residents Prepared to Assist Police in Maintaining Order

Special to The Times

Nanaimo, April 20. — Striking loggers on the march from Parksville to Alberni, intent upon stopping logging operations at Great Central Lake, were reported at 10.30 o'clock this morning to be within eleven miles of Alberni, having made seventeen miles in three hours. Some of the loggers were transported by motor trucks in relays, while others were marching.

Between 150 and 200 men started to march from Parksville at 7.30 o'clock this morning, in military formation, to Great Central Lake. They expected to be augmented by strikers from the Campbell River district and other points.

It was estimated that the men would have to walk forty-four miles to reach Great Central Lake, where it is reported some ninety men are working at the camps.

Trucks were requisitioned and the transport of the strikers across the island was thereby facilitated.

IN CONTACT TO-MORROW

It will be a difficult crossing through the bush to Great Central Lake and it is not expected that the strikers will be able to get near the working loggers before to-morrow.

It is doubtful whether the police will permit the striking loggers to cross the large dam which runs between the Great Central Lake mill and the camp where the loggers are working, and it is possible there may be a clash between the police and strikers at the dam.

RESIDENTS AROUSED

It is reported here that Alberni residents are prepared to assist the police in maintaining order should trouble develop.

One hundred loggers expected here from Vancouver last night failed to arrive to join the Great Central Lake march. According to reports reaching here a boatload left Vancouver, but the craft was overtaken by Department of Marine officials who demanded the boat's license for carrying passengers.

EIGHT HUNDRED RE-EMPLOYED

Canadian Press

Vancouver, April 20.—Eight hundred loggers have been re-employed in six camps since the British Columbia Board of Industrial Relations established a minimum wage for the industry two weeks ago, R. V. Stuart, secretary of the B.C. Loggers' Association, estimated to-day.

Mr. Stuart estimated more than 3,000 loggers were now employed in the province. Unofficial estimates place the number of loggers still on strike at approximately 1,500.

It was announced to-day 120 striking employees of the Rounds Burchett logging camp at Ramsay Arm will return to work Saturday.

The industry has been hard hit by the three months' strike, and many camps have been closed. The first official act of the Board of Industrial Relations, established at the last session of the Legislature, was to set

AHOUSAT MAN DIES OF BURNS

Gordon M. Duncan Fatally Injured Lighting Stove With Coal Oil

Port Alberni, April 20.—Gordon Malcolm Duncan, twenty-six, died in hospital here last night as the result of terrible burns sustained Wednesday at Ahousat. He was lighting the kitchen fire with coal oil, which exploded and trapped the victim. The house burned down and was a total loss. Duncan had all his clothes burned off before he was rescued by neighbors. He was given medical attention at Ahousat and rushed to Port Alberni Hospital yesterday afternoon. He was a member of a well-known West Coast family and leaves a widow and young child. The funeral will be held here Sunday.

Lost Interview Of The Ex-Kaiser Is Made Public

Wilhelm II in 1908 Made Statement For Publication in U.S. Magazine, But Berlin Foreign Office, Fearing International Outbreak, Suppressed It

Now Mystery Is Ended By Magazine

By Homer McCoy, Associated Press Writer

Boston, April 20.—What the Kaiser said to William Bayard Hale, journalist, that night back in 1908—an international mystery for a quarter of a century—was revealed to-day.

The famous "lost interview," which caused so many headaches and so much speculation, is presented in the May issue of The Atlantic Monthly Magazine by William Harlan Hale, son of the man to whom Emperor Wilhelm II of Germany, spoke so freely, and, as his country thought, so indiscreetly.

This is the gist of the views expressed by the Kaiser:

The inevitable world crisis was a clash between Japan and Occidental nations: East and west must meet, and the west must conquer.

Great Britain was guilty of a sort of political miscegenation in allying herself with Japan.

War was necessary. War was Christian. The Bible was full of fighting. The greatest soldiers were Christians.

The course of history was largely determined, not by the clashing of social forces and economic trends, but by the deeds of great men and personalities.

MET ON YACHT

Thus the Kaiser spoke. It was one evening in July, 1908, that he consented to the interview by Hale. The meeting was on the Imperial yacht, Hohenzollern, at anchor in the Fjord of Bergen.

In The Atlantic Monthly, Hale writes that the Emperor voiced "the most amazingly indiscreet statements ever uttered by the head of a great nation."

The world situation was prevarious at that time. The first-rate powers were in a fine state of balance—like a mixture of chemicals, ready to explode with the addition of some catalytic substance—a rash speech, for example.

NEW ONTARIO LIQUOR RULES

Canadian Press

Toronto, April 20—"As far as the Conservative party and my leadership are concerned, I am going to assume responsibility for the proposed changes in the liquor control policy that will be submitted to the people so they can judge of us and know what they can expect from us if we are continued in office," Premier George S. Henry told members of the Conservative Businessmen's Club at a luncheon here to-day.

"And I am quite satisfied now as we are going into another campaign there will be a further endorsement of the present administration that has the courage to carry on and to modify the law as we feel the people of the province are asking for," the Premier continued. "I have no doubt their verdict will be that the administration shall carry on with the proposed freer distribution under enforcement and control."

RADIO CHAIRMAN HEARD AT INQUIRY

Hector Charlesworth, at Commons Committee Sitting, Denies He Made Verbal Attack on R. W. Ashcroft, Former Witness

Canadian Press

Ottawa, April 20. — Hector Charlesworth, chairman of the Canadian Radio Commission, appeared before the Commons radio committee to-day and branded as "absolutely false" statements made by R. W. Ashcroft of Toronto in evidence before the committee last week.

Mr. Ashcroft's allegation the commission had sent a "roorback" through Canada terming him an imposter was denied absolutely by the commission chairman.

Evidence to the effect the National Broadcasting Company in the United States had no intention of co-operating with the commission was related when the chairman produced a letter from the stations relations counsel of the N.B.C., in which the organization declared it wished to co-operate to the fullest extent with the Canadian commission.

The Toronto man, Mr. Charlesworth has told, had stated station CRCT, commission outlet in Toronto, was losing money at the rate of $2,000 a month. On the contrary, said the chairman, it was bringing in a substantial surplus each month.

REVENUE PROPOSAL

All revenue received from licensing radio sets should be placed at the disposal of the Canadian Radio Commission, suggested Tom Moore, president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada. The money should be used for development of commission facilities and improvement of its programmes.

In a brief submitted to the committee, Mr. Moore summarized organized labor's position as follows:

1. "Dissatisfaction that ownership of stations by private interests has

HEAT HERE CONTINUES

To-day's Temperature May Surpass New Record of 75.4 Set Yesterday

With the thermometer climbing steadily all morning there was every indication a new heat mark might be set in Victoria, passing the record for April set yesterday when the mercury touched 75.4 degrees. Yesterday was the hottest April day in the city for the last fifty-nine years.

At 12.30 o'clock to-day the temperature was 72.5 degrees, and F. Napier Denison, director of the Gonzales Observatory, stated there was a possibility of its establishing a new mark if there was no change in the wind.

During the morning the wind was from the north, having a warming effect, coming off the land. The maximum yesterday was reached about 3 o'clock and about that time to-day, Mr. Denison thought yesterday's mark would be equaled or passed.

FRANCE IS MOVING OUT OF DEPRESSION

Return of Confidence Observed; Industrial and Political Reforms Mark Painful Process of Return to Normal Level

By George Hambleton
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Paris, April 20. — France is moving steadily forward from the depths of last February. By a painful process of deflation she is lifting her feet out of the mud.

Returning confidence noted three weeks ago was still more marked today. The French 4 per cent rentes are now higher than 4½s were a few weeks ago. Bank stocks and public utilities have improved.

As the sequel to a plan of co-ordination between railways and motorbus traffic, railway stocks are having a miniature boom. The gold drain has stopped. Returns for the year's first quarter show an improvement in the adverse balance of trade.

And additional measures are contemplated. Premier Mussolini accompanied his salary cuts with retail price reductions enforced with all the strength of Blackshirt persuasion. France is moving more cautiously. She also has a high cost of living to fade, and she must bring it down if

Rights Sought For Reduction

Fish Operators Want Permanent Herring Reducing Season

The Provincial Fisheries Department has been asked to concur in having herring thrown open for reduction purposes permanently by herring and pilchard plant operators of British Columbia.

Meeting Hon. George S. Pearson, Commissioner of Fisheries, this week, a delegation urged that this step be taken as a means of permitting the plants to operate profitably.

In the last three years herring reduction has been allowed, but only by temporary license granted each year, and this does not permit the making of plans for future development.

British Columbia herring meal now has a good opportunity in the British market, it was pointed out, and it would be of considerable aid to the industry if herring reduction were allowed on a permanent basis.

Besides the possible erection of new plants for the purpose, it would also extend the season for pilchard plants by about three months, it is estimated.

Recent tests by some operators have resulted in the development of a light-colored meal, which has met a ready demand from British buyers. While pilchard meal is dark in color, and does not get a ready sale there, herring are particularly suited for the purpose, it was stated.

No decision has yet been made by the department.

Marketing Bill Unconstitutional Says Liberal Chief

Mr. King Tells Commons Such Wide Powers Over Trade Should Not Be Given to Boards

Ottawa, April 20.—Described alternately as unconstitutional, socialistic, a violation of liberties cherished for generations and as a matter of simple necessity, the government's marketing bill continues its slow progress through the House of Commons. It has yet to receive second reading.

Yesterday evening Rt. Hon W. L. Mackenzie King, Liberal leader, denounced the bill as a negation of parliamentary government, as a step which would destroy liberty, ambition and individual initiative, and moved an amendment declaring the policy of the Liberal Party in the matter of marketing. The amendment would defeat the bill and it declares the House is ready to proceed with a marketing measure which would not confer unusual and autocratic powers on bodies apart from Parliament.

DECLARED UNCONSTITUTIONAL

The Liberal leader described the bill "unconstitutional from beginning to end," suggesting it contravened the British North America Act and would not stand up in a court of law.

WOODSWORTH'S ATTITUDE

J. S. Woodsworth, member for Winnipeg North Centre, and leader of the C.C.F., asserted the bill was the introduction of socialism. He congratulated the government on adoption of a part of the C.C.F. platform, although most of his speech was de-

Rome, April 20.—Guglielmo Marconi, as president of the National Research Institute, had Trieste's "electric woman" brought to Rome to-day.

The woman was taken immediately to the clinic. She will be tested by the use of special apparatus, probably in the presence of the famed inventor of wireless.

Coal Gasoline Plan Watched

Not Economically Feasible For This Province Yet, Operators Say

Coal operators in British Columbia are in close touch with developments in Great Britain with respect to production of gasoline by the hydrogenation of coal, it was stated at the Parliament Buildings to-day, but they do not regard the process as economically feasible for this province.

The industry in Britain is predicted by a tariff of sixteen cents a gallon on imported gasoline. The cost of producing gasoline by this method is said to be about thirty-two cents a gallon. B.C. operators have full knowledge of developments, but until a cheaper process is evolved there is no likelihood of the coal industry here benefitting.

MINING MEN PRESS PROTEST

Delegates at Ottawa Urge Minister of Mines to Consider Easing of Gold Tax

Canadian Press

Ottawa, April 20—The delegation of mining men who arrived here yesterday to protest against the new tax of 10 per cent on all gold delivered for sale to the mint was still in town to-day. No appointment had been made with the Prime Minister or Hon. E. N. Rhodes, Minister of Finance.

It was expected, however, the delegates would resume their conversations with Hon. W. A. Gordon, Minister of Mines. The group comprises R. J. Jowsey and W. E. Segswort for the Canadian Prospecting and Development Association, and G. C. Bateman and Fraser Reid for the Canadian Mining Association.

ONTARIO OPINIONS

Toronto, April 20.—Ontario government heads to day awaited the result of the representations to the Dominion administration on the proposed 10 per cent gold tax, while prominent Liberals declared both governments should resign because of the levy.

Premier George S. Henry and Hon. Charles McCrea, Ontario Minister of Mines, stated yesterday evening representations had been made to the Dominion Government on the question.

Earlier Arthur G. Slaght, K.C., prominent Toronto Liberal, described the proposed tax a "fool" step, and declared the Ontario and Dominion cabinets should resign.

Mr. McCrea stated he expected there would be some modification of the tax and maintained Ontario's interests were not being neglected. The Premier and Mr. McCrea announced they had discussed the tax as soon as it was made known, and decided to place their views immediately before the federal authorities.

Premier Henry declared Mr. McCrea had dispatched a telegram containing the Ontario government's representations on Thursday. Their action had been taken long before Mr. Slaght had publicly charged the provincial administration in neglecting the province's interests, it was maintained.

LIABILITIES OF $85,000

out the Ladies' Fashion Bootery operated by Mr. Maynard.

"The statement filed by the debtor is not quite correct, as there does not appear to be any equities in the properties and the realizable values are even less," said Mr. Hinton. "His business and personal operations were involved and he kept no records of the loans he received or disbursed."

Mr. Hinton said the unsecured liabilities had now reached the sum of $72,500, with $12,454 of secured liabilities, and $439.40 to preferred creditors, putting the total owing up to the $85,000 mark.

Details of some bank withdrawals between 1930 and 1933 when accounts were at times maintained in four or five banks were given by Mr. Hinton, who said he had been unable to trace all the disbursements.

Forrest L. Shaw brought to the attention of the court the fact that claims totaling $2,272 of R. J. Sneed of Sooke were not recorded in the totals.

"There is a feeling on the part of a great many that a thorough examination should take place as provided for under the law," said H. A. Beckwith, moving for such a formal inquiry.

Mr. Sinnott proposed that someone should be appointed to conduct a vigorous examination, but other lawyers objected that individuals should not be shut out from pressing their questions also.

EXAMINATION SOUGHT

The meeting voted to approve Mr. Davie's proposal that the custodian order, along with the inquiry under the bankruptcy superintendent, a rigorous examination of Mr. Maynard by counsel.

In a preliminary examination of Mr. Maynard, handed over to the meeting by Mr. Hinton, the first question was put by Mr. Sinnott, who asked:

"Have you any bank account anywhere else in Canada or United States?"

"None at all," Mr. Maynard replied.

"What have you done with all these large sums?" asked Mr. Fowkes. "Why did you keep no ledger?"

"I didn't think it was necessary," Mr. Maynard replied.

"Did you pay any moneys to James Maynard or your father's firm?" Mr. Sinnott asked.

"Never," replied Mr. Maynard.

"It is my earnest desire to pay back every dollar and clear my name," Mr. Maynard went on.

"Where are you going to get it?" asked Mr. Sinnott.

"I am going out to get it and not borrow it," Mr. Maynard replied.

After further questions, Mr. Maynard started on an address to the crowded court. He started: "If you want an expression of feeling from me . . ."

He got no further than this when he was halted by the chorus of voices of the lawyers calling "No."

"Well, if you want your money. . ." Mr. Maynard began again.

The lawyers again stopped him proceeding.

"My ship was sailing fine at the start and I made $10,000 a year in the first three years," Mr. Maynard began again.

"Do you think this has anything to do with the question?" Mr. Fowkes interrupted.

"How many creditors have you approached and asked not to put forward their claims?" Mr. Marchant asked.

"I have approached none. I have left it to their own discretion," Mr. Maynard replied.

This was followed by questions from Mr. Leighton. Then Mr. Sinnott asked:

STATEMENT DISPUTED

"Have you borrowed any money since the bankruptcy?"

"Not a bean," replied Mr. Maynard.

Two women in the gallery, giving their names as Mrs. J. Donald and Mrs. C. E. McKay, sisters, jumped to their feet and cried that such was not the case and charged that Mr. Maynard since the trouble had tried to induce one to borrow money from the other to give to him. The two women were ordered to give the full details to the registrar, which they dictated to him at the close of the sitting.

Another woman jumped up and pointing her finger told the court that the way Mr. Maynard had got money from another woman "was no way to treat my little sister."

"Who is going to keep my little sister, now," the woman asked.

"Say, I will look after her," replied Mr. Maynard. "I have made provision for her."

Mr. Moresby proposed that the larger sums borrowed could be traced if possible through the bank cheques.

"You will find instances of where money was borrowed for one purpose and used for another," Mr. Moresby went on. "I have one client from whom $2,000 was borrowed for a specific purpose in 1931, but the money was not used by Mr. Maynard for that purpose. That is going to be an important matter for the superintendent of bankruptcy."

Mr. Moresby proposed that further questioning of Mr. Maynard be postponed by the lawyers until he was under oath.

The dates for the examination of Mr. Maynard under the continued proceedings will be set by the custodian.

Mr. Hinton gave details of Mr. Maynard's life insurance. He said he carried the following policies: $22,500 in the North American Life; $5,000 in the Great West Life; $5,000 in the Manufacturers; $5,000 in the Confederation Life, and $3,000 in the Mutual Life of Canada. Besides, there was a $5,000 policy on the life of his wife payable to him. There were other policies on his own life aggregating $21,000, which have been allowed to lapse. Mr. Hinton gave details of the borrowings against these policies which had wiped out the equities in them.

ARMS EVENTS ARE WATCHED

Dramatic Showdown Expected When Disarmament Delegates Meet May 23

By Joseph E. Sharkey, Associated Press Correspondent

Geneva, April 20.—League of Nations circles forecast to-day a dramatic showdown on disarmament on May 23.

That is the date when representatives of the nations in the World Disarmament Conference will return to Geneva in full session to attempt to deal with the many-sided problem of arms control.

There are even unconfirmed rumors France may insist on an investigation of German armaments before consenting to negotiate any sort of a disarmament treaty.

But the differences of France, Germany and Great Britain form but one section of the problem as a whole.

To-day a tendency was seen in Geneva to link what one official called the "disturbed" disarmament situation with developments in the Far East growing out of the newly-stated Japanese policy that western powers must keep hands off China.

FIVE-YEAR PLAN

Some progress was seen by well-informed sources here in the British "white paper" revelation at London yesterday that Germany had expressed a willingness to postpone reductions of armaments by other powers for five years.

This stand, taken in a previous unrevealed note to Great Britain, it was stated here, may reduce the apprehensions of France regarding Germany's arms — apprehensions which led him to state flatly there could be no further hope of bilateral agreements with the Reich operating under a budget granting increases for military purposes.

Unexpected and disconcerting, but probably logical was the opinion expressed concerning France's memorandum to London in which the French, assuming bilateral negotiations were "rendered vain" by Germany's defence moves, demanded full disarmament conference discussions where they were left off in October, 1933.

FIVE-POWER STATEMENT

It also was stated France is disturbed over last Saturday's memorandum of five neutral powers—Sweden, Spain, Switzerland, Denmark and Norway—holding that it is better to reduce armaments and permit Germany to rearm on a moderate basis than to provide for a mere limitation which would involve heavy rearmament by Germany.

France Is Moving Out Of Depression

the lot of the poorly paid employees is not to be made harder still.

Albert Sarraut, Minister of the Interior, Pierre Flandin, Minister of Public Work, and Adrien Marquet, Minister of Labor, have agreed on financing a plan of public works development through the investment of social insurance guarantee funds. The first step will be an attack on unemployment in Paris and northern France.

CONSTITUTIONAL REFORM

In the political field a parliamentary commission is working out a scheme for constitutional reform. Its problem is to strike a more even balance of authority as between Parliament and the executive. In France the President may dissolve the Chamber of Deputies after a preliminary approving vote of the Senate. It is a right, however, which has been exercised only once since the foundation of the Third Republic, and in actual practice is regarded as non-existent.

The plan favored by Premier Gaston Doumergue is to strengthen the power of the government by establishing the right of dissolution of the Chamber, as in the United Kingdom. The Chamber would then think twice before overturning a cabinet.

A public meeting under the auspices of the Langford C.C.F. Club will be held in the Women's Institute Hall on Saturday next at 8 o'clock. Frank Roberts, well-known lecturer of Vancouver, will deliver an address on "The World Crisis and the Way Out." All interested are invited to attend.

BRITAIN AND U.S. TO STATE STAND ON ORIENT EVENTS

In Paris the opinion was expressed the Japanese stand might mean an end to the "open door" in China.

In Rome it was suggested European nations should present a united front to Japan on the question, burying their own differences in view of the Japanese attitude.

By Glenn Babb, the Associated Press Correspondent

Tokio, April 20.—The world as represented by foreign diplomats in Tokio seemed dazed to-day by Japan's "restatement of policy" toward China and what the diplomats regarded as her audacity in issuing it.

Representatives of other powers, still wondering at the exact meaning of the declaration, labelled it variously a "white-hands-off-China" statement and an "Asiatic Monroe Doctrine."

Japanese officialdom, however, appeared bewildered by the world's hostile reception of Tokio's declaration which, in part, holds Japan is solely responsible for maintaining the peace of Eastern Asia.

MOST AMBITIOUS SINCE 1915

Despite their admitted failure to grasp the exact import, there is almost unanimous concurrence among the diplomats on two points:

First, that Tokio's statement constitute the most startling and most ambitious declaration of policy the Orient has winessed since Japan's twenty-one demands on China in 1915; and Second, that how far Japanese doctrines menace world peace will depend entirely on how Tokio interprets and applies them.

MILITARY PLANES

It is believed Japan desires to post a warning for the world to read against interference in Japan's determination to dominate China's destiny, when in the "restatement" she says she objects to other nations supplying China with military airplanes and instructors.

In a new statement to-day, a Foreign Office spokesman attempted somewhat to allay the fears Japan plans to flout the Nine-Power and other treaties, but the note of defiance to white nations still was dominant.

London, April 20.—Authoritative sources to-day said Great Britain would expect the United States to take the responsibility for initiating any retaliation or protest against Japan's announced intention to participate in China's foreign relations.

Striking Loggers Marching to Alberni

a minimum wage of forty cents per hour for loggers and the Rounds Burchett Company to-day indicated its scale of wages in the woods would be based on this minimum.

The company announced it would welcome from its employees constructive suggestions for the welfare of the employees, for the advancement of the company business. They said the board and logging charge would be $1.10 per day.

Company officals said the Ramsay Arm camp would reopen immediately and no discrimination would be used against the men for participation in the strike.

Questioned here regarding loggers' claims that machine guns and airplanes had been used by the Provincial Police in preventing strikers and alleged strike-breakers from clashing, Hon. George S. Pearson, Minister of Labor, flatly denied anything of this sort had been done. There were police present to keep order at some camps, he pointed out, and that was part of their duty.

Bill Ending Irish Senate Is Voted forming a substitute body for the upper House.

President de Valera pointed out the Senate had opposed the Dail in many fundamental matters. (An anti-government majority remained in the upper House after accession of the Republicans to power.)

BILLS BLOCKED

He referred to the Senate's blocking of the bill to remove the oath of allegiance and the bill extending the local government franchise to persons aged twenty-one or more. He did not mention the Senate's halting of the government bill banning the wearing of political uniforms, a measure aimed at the opposition blue shirts, which action was the cause of the government's sudden attack on the Senate.

UNION OUTLOOK

President de Valera during to-day's debate, declared nothing the government was doing would delay the day when the union of the North and South, "which we all desire," would be brought about.

The government was not satisfied that any step it might take now to win the North could be effective, he admitted. But in his opinion the day of reunion in Ireland was going to come much more rapidly by the government's policy than by the policy of the opposition.

Marketing Bill Is Unconstitutional Says Liberal Chief

voted to criticism of terms of the bill. The one satisfactory thing from his point of view was that it committed the Conservative party to control of industry. He thought it should go farther and apply to all products instead of being limited to natural products.

Robert Gardiner, leader of the United Farmers of Alberta and spokesman for the farmer wing of the C.C.F., endorsed the bill. He was prepared to support experiments on a substantial scale in an effort to work out a system of marketing which would give the producer a fair show.

STEVENS SPEAKS

Conditions had changed in recent years, said Hon. H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce. In criticizing the bill Mr. King appeared to have forgotten the world was passing through an economic crisis, he said. The doctrines of government and of trade propounded by the Liberal leader might have fitted in well in some period before the Great War.

The bill was simply an effort to secure for the producer of natural products a measure of control over his products.

The nations of the world, impelled by fear or necessity, had erected barriers to trade, quotas, high tariffs and embargoes had disrupted trade. Moreover, the internal economy of Canada as well as of other nations had been disturbed. A potent factor in this had been the growth of great corporations for the marketing and processing of farm products. Control has passed from the hands of the producer into the hands of the processor and the government planned by the bill to right this condition.

ORDERS TO PRODUCERS

During his speech, which occupied two hours, the Liberal leader, leveled a many-sided indictment against the bill. It was drastic, because an individual producer could be told when he could sell, what he could sell, how he could sell, and even if he could sell, said Mr. King. Power to prohibit imports and exports would be vested with the central marketing board, which, in addition, could say what was an offence and what fines and imprisonment should follow.

"This act will set liberty at naught," said Mr. King, following this up with the statement that it seemed to be the policy of the government to stifle trade and restrict production.

"If you are going to limit production and make it a crime for a man to sell his produce, then you are destroying the whole initiative and soul of the people," Mr. King said.

IMPROVEMENTS NEEDED

Mr. King declared there was necessity for improved methods of marketing and trade, but this should not be accomplished by usurping the liberties and privileges so precious to all. The Liberal party stood for the regulation of trade and marketing at the instance of Parliament, not by a body in no way responsible to Parliament.

Mr. Woodsworth and his followers were supporting this bill because they saw in it a step in the direction of bureaucratic control, the only means whereby the aims of the members in that corner of the House could put their aims into effect, said Mr. King.

The C.C.F. leader took exception to Mr. King's remark, declaring it was an implication the C.C.F. advocated bureaucracy and force to obtain their ends.

BY FORCE

The Liberal leader replied it was only by bureaucracy and with force behind it that Mr. Woodsworth's group could put its politics of socialism into effect.

"They have to let Toryism go very far," Mr. King declared. There was no wonder the C.C.F. were congratulating the Tory party in regard to this measure. The Tories were allowing them to "walk into their parlor" to help put this legislation through.

The bill gave authority to groups of producers to unite and draw up their own scheme and make that applicable to the other classes of society, Mr. King contended. No provision was made to give the consumers or the laborers an opportunity to protect themselves.

MR. KING'S AMENDMENT

He then declared his intention of moving an amendment to the bill, and, after quoting parliamentary for his right to do so, moved: "That this House, while prepared to support legislation for assisting the orderly marketing of natural products, is unalterably opposed to the enactment of any compulsory measure which delegates to unnamed and undetermined individuals, groups or organizations, sweeping powers over the production and trade and commerce of the nation, and which confers upon a minister of the crown and upon the Governor-in-Council unprecedented authority and unusual powers to restrict production, and interprovincial, inter-imperial and foreign trade as regards both exports and imports, as well as other autocratic powers."

OUT OF ORDINARY

Hon. H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce, spoke at some length in reply to Mr. King.

"This government," he said, "admits this legislation is new in character, unusual in character but good gracious, this country and its people, staggering under their loads, have been clamoring for something out of the ordinary."

New business methods had been introduced in recent years that called for new marketing methods, continued Mr. Stevens. The bill was designed to permit Canadian producers to obtain a fair share of the internal and external trade of the country through planned and orderly marketing.

European countries, including the United Kingdom, were committed to a quota system, pointed out the Trade Minister. How could Canada adhere to a quota limitation if some central authority did not have the power to restrict? And who was to say whose cattle should be shipped and whose left behind?

CONTROL SYSTEM

"The time has come," continued Mr. Stevens, "when we must have some form of regulation to control the movement of goods if we are to keep faith with other countries and, at the same time, do justice to our exporters."

The bill had been introduced with the hope all parties in the House would assist in whipping it into final shape, declared the Minister of Trade. Amendments were desired, but he declared this should be done in committee stage, and the bill not killed outright.

Mr. Stevens asked the Speaker to consider whether the King amendment was not out of order in that it contained a declaration of policy rather than an objection to the bill.

He had wondered, said Mr. Stevens, during Mr. King's two-hour speech, whether the Liberal leader was aware there had been a world crisis, a complete dislocation of the world's trade, and whether he was aware Canada was confronted with new and baffling problems. All over the world new and startling methods of doing business had arisen, for the internal economies as well as the external trade of all nations had been disturbed.

The agriculturists of Canada were suffering under a price condition which had made the carrying on of their business almost impossible. What to do to raise prices was the problem.

Mr. Stevens did not suggest the bill was a cure-all, but he was convinced the Minister of Agriculture had submitted a proposal worthy of Parliament's consideration. Improvements might be made to it in committee.

INQUIRIES ACT

Mr. King had criticized the powers conferred for investigation price spreads, but they were no greater than could now be exercised under the Inquiries Act. He had also objected to giving boards power to declare what was an improper price spread the imposition of which was an offence. But any person accused had to be tried in the courts and had full protection for his rights.

There was not a regulatory statute passed during the Liberal regime, which did not give these powers to the Governor-in-Council, said Mr. Stevens.

MANUFACTURED GOODS

James S. Woodsworth, leader of the C.C.F., suggested the bill be extended to include marketing of manufactured goods. If the principle was sound for breakfast foods, why not for clothes or furniture?

been allowed to develop since the commission was established. This, in our opinion, is a retrograde step.

2. "Belief the position of the commission would be stronger if its membership was increased so as to provide more direct contact with important community groups.

MANAGER PROPOSED

3. "That the commission should be more than an advisory and administrative body, the actual management being placed under a representative manager.

4. "That all revenue received from the licensing of radio sets should be placed at the disposal of the commission for development of its facilities and improvement of its programme. The present method of providing for expenditures of the commission by an annual vote of Parliament is misleading, the impression being common that money so provided is from general taxation in addition to revenue from license fees.

5. "New stations as required should be built and owned by the Radio Commission and present ones absorbed by the commission's system as quickly as this can be done.

6. "The commission should facilitate the building up of machinery for development of collective bargaining and adjustment of any grievances that may arise with its employees."

By the commission's affairs being handled by a manager, Mr. Moore thought, any possible "political interference" would be avoided. It was hard to divorce any publicly owned utility from Parliament.

Limitation Of Banks' Profits Is Proposed

Commons Committee in Ottawa Hears Suggestions of Major C. H. Douglas

Canadian Press

Ottawa, April 20.—After a day and a half of questioning, Major C. H. Douglas, author and supporter of the Douglas Credit Scheme, yesterday concluded his appearance before the banking and commerce committee of the House of Commons.

At no time did the well-known economist indicate in any detail to the members of the large committee the complete plan which he suggested might solve the financial and economic problems of the Dominion. He did place before the committee proposals made to the government of New Zealand which comprised what he regarded as first steps in a scheme suitable for Canada.

The general basis of the proposals comprised limitation of profits of banks and insurance companies. In the case of the banks, he advocated using a percentage of profits over 6 per cent for reducing overdrafts and overdraft interest of customers.

The committee will sit this afternoon to consider the matter of interlocking directorates.

Major Douglas's proposals to the New Zealand government included creation of two accounts which he termed suspense account number one and number two. They provided for limiting profits of the banks to 6 per cent per annum on the subscribed capital.

WAR DANGER

The witness told H. E. Spencer, U.F.A., Battle River, it was his contention continuation of present financial and economic conditions would lead ultimately to war.

NEW AUSTRIA ELECTION PLAN

Mayors of Cities Will Choose President Under New Constitution

Vienna, April 20.—Mayors of cities will elect new Austrian presidents under the new "corporative" constitution completed by the cabinet after four days of almost continuous sessions.

The new document provides the municipal chiefs shall elect the President from among three candidates chosen by a national assembly composed of four consultative bodies.

The President is to have powers similar to those conferred on the late Emperor Franz Josef when he ascended the throne after crushing a republican revolution in 1848.

The constitution will be based on the principle that all power emanates from God, as opposed to the present one which says all power emanates from the people.

The people will have an opportunity to express their opinion at the polls whenever the government thinks this advisable.

The question of whether to proclaim a constitution or call a rump parliament, or to put the constitution in force by other means remained unsettled to-day, as well as regulations for the intervening period.

The Austrian parliament has been inactive for months, dissolved by Chancellor Dollfuss.

GOVERNORS OF PROVINCES

Provincial governors will be named by the President on recommendation of the Chancellor. The choice will be made from among three persons nominated by provincial diets. The President can recall them from office at any time, and must do so if the Diet asks him to.

Provincial governors will name district governors, subject to confirmation by the Chancellor. Town councils, which also will be corporative in structure, will elect mayors, subject to confirmation of the district governor, who can recall them.

The mayors who elect the President thus will be directly under the control of the government.

FOUR COUNCILS

The four consultative bodies which will choose the candidates for President are composed of a state council of forty to fifty members, appointed by the President; the federal cultural council, consisting of representatives of churches, religious societies and schools; the federal economic council, chosen from the ranks of business and agriculture, and the provincial council, consisting of governors and finance ministers in the provinces.

It still has not been made clear who will succeed the President in event of his sudden death. Wilhelm Miklas is the present incumbent, elected under the republican constitution, but it has been said he presumably will be released from his oath under the new constitution.

HOSPITAL SWEEPS ARE OPPOSED

Ottawa, April 20.—Archbishop J. C. Roper declared himself as being opposed to legislation for hospital sweepstakes in Canada, in his charge to the members of the synod of the Anglican diocese of Ottawa.

Sweepstakes had promoted widespread gambling, which already was too prevalent, the Archbishop of Ottawa and Metropolitan of the Ecclesiastical Province of Ontario stated in referring to a report of the British Hospital Association which opposed legalization of sweepstakes in England for hospital purposes.

Development Plans In Manchukuo

Coal and Gold Mining Companies Formed; Land Settlement Scheme

Canadian Press

Mukden, Manchuria, April 20—Five important development companies, with a combined capital of 60,000,000 yen (currently $18,000,000) are being formed in Manchuria, completely financed by the South Manchuria Railway.

The Manchuria Gold Mining Company will have a capital of 12,000,000 yen ($3,600,000) and will exploit placer and quartz mines northwest of Harbin. Location of a 30,000,000 yen ($9,000,000) magnesium manufactory is yet to be chosen.

The Manchuria Collieries, capital 12,000,000 yen ($3,600,000), will take over three big operating mines and produce coal and coke.

A great automobile assembling plant is to be built at Mukden, capital 5,000,000 yen ($1,500,000) and a 1,000,000 yen ($300,000) company will erect a bean mill at Dairen to make oil and bean cake for fertilizer from soya beans.

LAND SETTLEMENT

Hsinking, Manchuria, April 20—The Manchukuo government and the South Manchuria Railway Company will be joint owners of a new $20,000,000 company to be known as the joint land corporation, which will develop unsettled land and assist in financing Japanese farmers to come from Japan and settle in Manchuria.

The railway company will turn over to the joint land corporation vast areas of land it already owns and the government will meet this acre for acre from the public domain. Funds will be furnished in equal sums from the Manchukuo treasury and the treasury of the railway.

EMPIRE DEAD FOR GERMANY

Storm-troop Head Says No Attempt to Restore Monarchy Will Succeed

By John A. Bouman, Associated Press Foreign Staff

Berlin, April 20.—A Nazi leader's stern stand against monarchism dimmed further to-day the hopes of Germans who long for restoration of the imperial Hohenzollern dynasty.

"The imperial crown lies on the battlefield," warned Capt. Ernst Roehm, leader of the brown-shirted Nazi storm troopers.

Then he added significantly:

"I doubt whether the German people wish to fight for it there."

Captain Roehm addressed foreign correspondents and diplomats yesterday and discussed Nazi ideals with particular reference to the functions of the group he heads.

"If the German people wish to give themselves an overlord again they would do so against, rather than in behalf of, reactionaries," he declared.

WARNING GIVEN

"Reactionary" opponents of the Nazi regime were warned by Captain Roehm they were doing "no service to monarchical ideas" by writing "monarchism on their shield."

Capt. Roehm said neither reaction nor Marxism is dead, and that it is the task of the Storm Troopers to see the will of National Socialism is carried out until every man is "100 per cent National Socialist in his heart and his deeds."

The Storm Troopers' function is quite apart from that of the army, he said, but in case of invasion from the other side of the frontier, the invader will find the whole people ready.

TRADE TREATIES ARE ADVOCATED

Canadian Press

London, April 20.—Extension of a system of bilateral treaties and a call for currency stabilization throughout the world was urged by Sir Alan Garrett Anderson yesterday in presiding at the annual meeting of the association of Chamber of Commerce.

Sir Alan, industrial leader, is honorary president of the International Chamber of Commerce. He said:

"We hope and believe His Majesty's Government, by pressing on and extending bilateral discussions, will convince the gold bloc that to maintain currencies they must join in asserting correct principles and in restoring exchange trade and will convince other nations that commerce will not thrive unless it is based on stable money."

DEBT PAYMENT IS ADVOCATED

Associated Press

London, April 20.—Asserting Great Britain now is able to pay its war debts to the United States, Colonel J. C. Wedgwood, Independent Labor member of Parliament, denounced the government yesterday evening for making no provision in the budget for paying the installment of $85,670,675 due June 15.

During the budget debate in the House of Commons, Col. Wedgwood alluded to the reduction of income tax by six pence to the pound and declared he would rather pay the additional tax and "be able to look America in the face."

ASSAULT CHARGE IS DISMISSED

Associated Press

Los Angeles, April 20. — Battery charges against Richard Bennett, stage and screen actor, filed last Saturday by his estranged wife, Mrs. Angela Raisch Hastings Bennett have been dismissed at the request of the latter's attorney, Milton Cohen.

The dismissal followed a conference between Mrs. Bennett and her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Raisch, of Los Gatos.

NEW ZEALAND'S TRADE GROWS

Canadian Press Cable Via Reuter's

Wellington, N.Z., April 19—New Zealand's favorable balance of trade substantially increased in the fiscal year ended March 31, it was reported to-day although imports also increased.

The favorable balance reached the equivalent of $73,626,000 in Canadian funds, compared with a balance of $49,804,000 the previous year.

Total exports in the last fiscal year amounted to $184,168,000. Imports were $110,540,000.

CARIBOO MINERS AGAINST NEW TAX

Canadian Press

Quesnel, B.C., April 20.—Small placer gold operators in the Cariboo district are highly perturbed over the 10 per cent gold tax. If it applies to the small earnings they make from washings on the banks of streams, they claim it will be an unbearable hardship.

Some of these men make only from 50 cents to $2 a day and if their small earnings are to be assessed 10 per cent, the same as the big productions from lode mines, many say they will be inclined to abandon their operations.

Opium Convict Fights Deportation

Wong Lee Kim, who has just completed serving a five-year penitentiary term on an opium charge, and is facing deportation from Canada to China, was yesterday admitted to $1,000 bail by Mr. Justice Murphy of the Supreme Court.

The application was made by C. H. O'Halloran, as counsel.

W. C. Moresby, K.C., counsel for the Department of Immigration, asked that cash bail be set, according to terms of the Immigration Act.

The judge said he saw no justification for introducing cash bail, and set it under the customary property guarantees with two sureties of $3,500 each.

Habeas corpus proceedings are being taken on behalf of Wong Lee Kim. He claims he was born in Grand Forks, the son of a British subject, and is therefore a British subject and above deportation.

New Industrial Plant in Manitoba

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, April 20.—Preparations were under way here to-day for construction of a $225,000 plant by Canadian Industries Limited at East Selkirk, twenty miles north of Winnipeg.

Announcement construction would be started immediately was made by Arthur B. Purvis, president and managing director of the explosives manufacturing company. He said construction had been authorized by the board of directors at a recent meeting in Montreal.

SENATOR McRAE'S MOTION

WHILE MAJOR-GENERAL McRAE'S advocacy in the Senate of Canada's withdrawal from the League of Nations raises a sharply controversial issue, there can be no question that the motive which inspired it has the sympathy of a large majority of the Canadian people. Senator McRae insists that Canadians shall not participate in foreign wars, and that not a solitary Canadian life shall be sacrificed on the battlefields of Europe.

The Senator, who was quartermaster-general of the Canadian corps in the last war, recently toured Europe and an intensive investigation there convinced him that continental Europe is headed for another great conflict. Apart from his personal observation his conclusion seems to have the sanction of history which has shown that all dictatorships and other autocracies inevitably wind up in war or revolution, and invariably in both.

France's present refusal to participate in any disarmament understanding unless Great Britain undertakes to support her if she is attacked brings a crisis near, since the British people never will permit their government to give such a guarantee, while France is determined at all costs to prevent the rearmament of Germany. The French government is somewhat militarist, the Minister for War being Marshal Petain, while Hitler and his "strong-arm" coadjutors already have shown that they are foolish and ignorant enough to do anything.

In that ominous picture Canada should have no part. She has enough pressing problems of her own without involving herself in the endless maelstrom of racial and nationalistic ambitions and hatreds of continental Europe. But if she withdrew from the League of Nations at this juncture, she would strike a severe blow at the only organization which exists for the promotion of peace, and her withdrawal might conceivably help to fan smoking embers of international ill-will into a conflagration.

Major-General McRae thinks the issue of peace or war, as far as Canada is concerned, should be referred to a plebiscite. This is along the line of the proposal made by Mr. Meighen when he was leader of the Conservative party that the issue should be submitted to the electors in a general election. The fact that Senator McRae, who was organizer for the same party in the last general election, continues to be so insistent on this vital question, suggests a strong consolidation of Canadian public sentiment on the main issue, even though it may not agree with him that Canada should withdraw from the League of Nations at this time. Liberals are just as definite in their opposition to Canada's entanglement in the quarrels of continental Europe, while the C.C.F.'s attitude is a foregone conclusion. Hence, while Major-General McRae's immediate motion relative to the League of Nations may be defeated, the purpose and object underlying it will meet with common approval.

AGRICULTURAL RELIEF

IN HIS BUDGET SPEECH, HON. E. N. Rhodes, Minister of Finance, made reference to the proposed measures by which the government will seek, at the present session of Parliament, to lighten the debt and interest burden of the agricultural communities. "The guiding principle of this legislation," the Minister said, "will be to secure for the farmer a simplified debt structure reduced in size to a point where the carrying charges will be within the capacity of the farm enterprise to pay. This will involve some concessions on the part of creditors, but these will be more than outweighed by the advantages which will follow as a result of retaining the farmer on the land as a willing and effective producer." The following is understood to be the plan proposed:

1. Formation of federal machinery which will do for the individual farmer what was attempted last year for hard-pressed Canadian corporations by means of the Company Creditor Arrangement Act. That is: offer under federal auspices an avenue of debt-settlement apart from the bankruptcy courts.

2. Provide a means under federal auspices whereby debtors can scale down their indebtedness without prejudice to the interests of secured and unsecured creditors. Such settlements would be in the hands of competent federal adjustment "commissioners." Expenses of carrying out such adjustment to be borne by the federal government.

3. Enlarge the powers of the Federal Farm Loan Board to enable it to offer new financing where necessary to clean up existing debt situations. Such new money to be available under a chattel or second mortgage up to two-thirds of the value of the debtor's land, buildings and equipment. Present lending power is only up to fifty per cent of the value of the land and buildings.

While this suggested relief has to do entirely with the farmer, it involves a principle of financial assistance which should be capable of extension to include other forms of public debt such as loans the Dominion government has made to the provinces. Mr. Rhodes told the Commons that this question was too large and complicated to call for more than a passing reference from him just now; but he did say that, in his opinion, the same kind of remedy "can not be applied to the problem of public indebtedness." However, if advantages are to accrue to the creditors "as a result of retaining the farmer on the land as a willing and effective producer," similar advantages, but of a wider significance, would accrue to the Dominion as a whole by easing the financial burden now weighing heavily on the provinces.

Mr. Rhodes gave the details of loans made to the provinces under relief acts standing as at March 31 of this year as follows: Manitoba: $10,086,000; Saskatchewan: $23,555,000; Alberta: $10,051,000; British Columbia: $7,048,000. Total: $50,740,000.

Premier Pattullo and three of his colleagues are now on their way to Ottawa mainly for the purpose of discussing British Columbia's financial problem, the object, of course, being assistance from the Dominion. It will be noted in the foregoing details that the amount of money loaned to this province is $7,048,000, three millions less than the amount loaned to Alberta and Manitoba, and thirteen and a half millions less than Saskatchewan's borrowings. British Columbia's position is reflected in the fact that annual interest charges amount to more than half the total revenue from all sources. It will be impossible to continue this drain.

A WORTHY CAUSE

NO GREATER COMMENDATION CAN be made of any good cause than a spontaneous and practical tribute from one of its beneficiaries. A few days ago the Women's Workroom committee was touched by the receipt of a letter from a woman who had been tided over a very difficult time by being given a few hours' work each day at the workroom. Some weeks ago she had the offer of a job in the upper country—her first over a long period—and out of her first week's wages she sent a donation of two dollars to the workroom as a token of her gratitude to the institution which had been a veritable haven in her time of need.

To-morrow the Women's Workroom will appeal to the public for support in its campaign for funds to ensure its continuance. With $700 a month to raise to meet the wages of the women and the very small overhead expenses, the task of financing the undertaking is a big responsibility to the little band of women who have managed its affairs so efficiently—and gratuitously—since its inception in October, 1931. To-morrow's tag day has been arranged to afford those whose contribution can only be small an opportunity of assisting a cause which The Times very sincerely commends.

WOMEN AND ARMS

ONE OF THE RESOLUTIONS PASSED at this week's meetings of the Provincial Chapter I.O.D.E. urged the removal of the manufacture of armaments from the realm of private interests to that of government control, while it also asked the Dominion government to forbid the export of raw materials to be used for armament manufacture by private companies.

If all the women and all the women's organizations of the world band together and give governments frequent convincing demonstrations that they are out to do their part towards putting an end to the manufacture of arms for private profit, universal peace would no longer appear a hopeless prospect.

No government so far has set an example by nationalizing its armament-manufacturing industry. Public men in several countries, on the contrary, have openly opposed any such course for the reason that they are financially interested. There is obvious joy among the sinister forces over the continued failure of the Disarmament Conference. Paris newspapers, notoriously controlled by big armament firms, make no effort to conceal their satisfaction, while the most significant development of the last day or so has been the rise on most foreign bourses in the value of armament shares.

It has become more than ever necessary, therefore, for such organizations as the I.O.D.E. to continue to press governments to nationalize the armament-manufacturing business. Once that has been accomplished there will be no need for any further disarmament conferences. Greed is still at the bottom of the world's troubles.

INVADING THE PROVINCE

THE PROVINCIAL GOVERNMENT could have levied a tax on gold, but obviously it would be disinclined to do so because it desires to encourage the gold mining industry of the province which is making an important contribution to economic recovery. The imposition of this tax by the federal government, altogether apart from its effect upon the industry, is a fresh reminder of the measure in which the Dominion is drawing taxation from what should be purely provincial sources of revenue.

This encroachment began as emergency war finance in the levy of income taxation. Then followed a long list of nuisance taxes, all of them directly or indirectly on business. As forty per cent of Canada's total revenue is spent on liabilities arising out of the war, and no doubt will continue to be for a long time yet, we may anticipate other invasions of the provincial field under the spacious financial necessities of the last war.

On the other hand, the provinces, having no such emergent powers, can not even sneak into the shadow of the federal taxation structure without having their legislation thrown out by the courts. The result, of course, is the limitation of their sources of revenue, and this in turn forces them to invade the municipal fields of taxation, requiring the municipalities to draw in some cases virtually all of their revenues from real property, the basic value of which becomes destroyed in the process. It is clear that there will have to be a complete readjustment of taxation in Canada from top to bottom and a more effective, equitable and business-like division of the sources of revenue between the three authorities. Otherwise the whole structure eventually will collapse.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

BETTER DAYS
The Ottawa Journal

Only folly could suggest that we are out of the storm, with fair skies and smooth water ahead. We are not. But if there is no cause for thoughtless optimism, neither is there reason for continued pessimism. Nothing ahead of us can be half as bad as what we have come through successfully. And all the signs point to a sustained advance.

MIKE'S BIG HOG
The New York Sun

An interesting paragraph in The Pennsylvania Farmer tells about Mike's big hog, weighing 590 pounds, sold on the market at Pittsburgh. It relates that after paying shipment, commission and stockyard charges Mike had $1.03. One reason, says the periodical, why he got so little was the kind of hog he had, but another was the processing tax, estimated at $13.27.

Loose Ends

Another column about nothing—a skeptical gentleman from Wisconsin—a great fortress on the Pacific—the hardships of our seagulls—the disgust of a British traveler—and the harrowing life of a cabinet minister.

By H. B. W.

NOTHING

"WHAT," SAID my chance acquaintance on the steamer, "might you happen to do for a living?"

"Well," I said, "I might happen to blow safes or preach sermons, but actually I only write things."

"What," said he, for he was a persistent fellow from Wisconsin with a gimlet eye and the horny hand of a farmer, "what might you write about, stranger?"

"About nothing," I assured him.

"Nothing? Absolutely nothing?"

"Absolutely nothing."

"Well, what be you going to write about to-day—if it's not too personal?"

"Before this boat lands in Vancouver," I said, "I shall have written 1,200 words, as nearly as I can gauge it, and so far as I can see now it will be about nothing—about this pleasant, uneventful little voyage."

"Well, say," said he, "I betcha couldn't write no 1,200 words about that."

"Just wait and see," I said, but alas, he will be on the way to Wisconsin and will never know that I have made good my threat.

"You know," he added, "they tell me that round green dome over there with the shiny brass monkey on top of it—the thing that looks like it needed to be shined up and polished a bit—they tell me that's the Parliament Buildings. Now that kind of mixes me up. I never thought the capital of Canada was out in these parts, but they tell me it is. And what's more, you see that neck of land out there—that's a place called 'Squimalt or some English name like that, and out there the British have got a big naval base—yes, sir, no one knows about it, but they tell me it's a huge base, almost impregnable. They tell me the British built it to keep us Americans from taking Vancouver Island from 'em, but who'd want that Island anyway? But if any other fleet comes in here they tell me 'Squimalt could blow it out of the water. It's funny how these British can keep things like that dark, ain't it? Oh, they're deep and sly, let me tell you, boy.

BRITISH

YOU KNOW, the British, they own Victoria. It don't belong to Canada. If you're ever been in Victoria you must have seen for yourself how the British have overrun the place. Why, you can't hardly understand the lingo at all.

"My friend," I said, "it is the native Victorian who talks in the fashion you have described so eloquently."

"Well, you don't expect me to believe that, I guess. I know a Canadian when I see it."

DESOLATION

WE WERE passing now around Beacon Hill Park, and I told my friend I was about to show him one of the finest sights in Canada—the broom of Beacon Hill ablaze in the sunshine. Visitors from all over the world, I said, were enthralled by this unique spectacle unequaled elsewhere in America. But imagine my embarrassment, picture my Victorian pride broken when I discovered that the broom of Beacon Hill had been systematically devastated and wrecked by a city council, which also imprisons white bears and mangy buffaloes. Yes, my friend from Wisconsin couldn't see much to Beacon Hill, and there was no use trying to tell him of the glory which departed when half the broom was cut down at the expense of the taxpayers.

I decided to ignore Beacon Hill and pointed out the new Cathedral. It's too bad someone doesn't put up the money to finish the Cathedral—not merely as a matter of religion, but as an important feature of Victoria's physical aspect. I mean, when its two great front towers and its still mightier centre tower rise up from the green billows of oak trees about them, the Cathedral will dominate the whole skyline, give the city an air of culture and substance which it lacks now.

No use, however, to explain to visitors from Wisconsin how the Cathedral will look some day when we are dead.

Eyeing the skyline of Victoria intently for some moments, my friend gave utterance to this profound prophecy: "Stranger, after all this here has passed away, after this here civilization has kind of died off, or maybe that there city has been blowed up by the Japs or Russians, that there stone cathedral church and that there concrete elevator, they'll still be a-standin' there for eternity almost! They'll be monuments to you, like."

It is, indeed, a solemn thought.

POOR PLACE

THAT THERE Victoria," he added, "is a pretty poor place, I guess. Why, look at them seagulls. See how they follow the boat away from Victoria? I guess there isn't enough for 'em to eat over there. Now, if we had them seagulls down in Wisconsin we'd feed 'em, just to have 'em around. But over there in Victoria they don't appreciate 'em, I guess."

When I was down to tea just now a charming, ruddy-faced Englishman was guzzling tea and strawberry jam by the yard. He was telling his wife all about Vancouver Island and the islands of the Gulf, but added regretfully: "They tell me that in some of these places they actually regard deer and pheasants as a pest, by gad, and the farmers shoot them off because they eat the beastly crops! Can you imagine it, though? They ought to be glad to grow their beastly crops to feed the game. I mean to say, why would one want to live in a beastly place like this except for the shooting and that sort of thing, eh?"

POOR FELLOW

THE NEXT FRIEND I ran into was fleeing from an angry mob—a fugitive, poor fellow, who scarcely dares to show his head in any British Columbia city. Wherever he goes people pounce upon him and make his life unbearable. The only place he can rest for a few moments is on this boat, and he travels back and forth once or twice a week to collect his thoughts. It's a rather expensive way to live, but the public pays the bill for, you see, he is a cabinet minister. And, of course, no one has any consideration for cabinet ministers, so I kept him talking on the stairs for an hour while he practically starved to death for his tea.

This gentleman boldly voiced the opinion—advanced with some trepidation here—that of all countries in the world, Canada had made the worst bungle of the unemployment problem and of the depression generally. Nor could he see any sign of anybody at Ottawa doing any better about it in future. Nor can I.

But at last we are in sight of Vancouver now, and that's something. I have written a full column about nothing at all and beaten my friend from Wisconsin, and you will yet recover from reading it.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By ALINE MICHAELIS

THIS RESTLESS AFTERNOON

I fidgeted each moment through,
This restless afternoon;
A dozen tasks I set to do
And finished all too soon.

I read a story, penned a note,
Then polished candlesticks;
I pinned a white rose at my throat
And tried some new card tricks.

But slowly ticked the stubborn clock,
While minutes lagged along;
My eagerness each seemed to mock,
With time's most tedious song.

I fretted while the seconds went
From one o'clock till four,
Then, suddenly conferred content,
Your footfall at my door!

THE VICTORIA DAILY TIMES
April 20, 1909

(From The Times Files)

The passenger traffic over the E. & N. and V. & S. Railway lines, from Victoria to the various different resorts has almost doubled during the past few weeks. It is the prophesy of one who has watched the trend of events with care, that this summer is going to see a record number of tourists visit Vancouver Island.

Vancouver is likely to be the venue of a series of professional footraces during the coming summer. Arrangements are practically completed for holding them at Recreation Park, following the baseball games or some other evening once a week.

Steamer Tees, which arrived from the west coast last evening, brought a cargo of 300 barrels of whale oil and 600 sacks of fertilizer from the whaling station at Sechart. While the vessel was there the whaler Orion brought into the station two sulphur bottoms which had just been caught, bringing the total number for the season at the station alone up to twenty-one.

William Sloan, ex-M.P. for Comox-Atlin, is in the city, and is a guest at the Empress Hotel.

D. A. Budge, the veteran Y.M.C.A. secretary, whose headquarters are in Montreal, sent a cheering message to R. L. Drury, chairman of the citizens' committee for the Victoria building fund, which was read at the noon luncheon to-day. Another letter was read from J. R. McCoy, secretary of the San Francisco Y.M.C.A. wishing Victoria every success in their venture.

ROSES

To the Editor:—The other day I saw in the paper—I think it was The Times—where someone was making a song about one rose being in blossom somewhere up around Fairfield. Let those who would like to see a sight go to 713 Vancouver Street, between Richardson and Collinson, and they can see forty roses in bloom on one tree. And not only that, the same tree bloomed all winter without a break. Laugh that off!

CATS

To the Editor:—Would please ask for space to take exception to the article in yesterday's Times on Albert Payson Terhune's smart satire on cats.

I have had pet cats around me all my life and know they are very affectionate. They bestow it on each other and not on man, unless he proves himself kind and gentle.

Man cannot control cats by fear as he can dogs, so that is why some who

ART TREASURES TO BE AUCTIONED

London, April 20.—Arlington Street, the home of art treasures politics and diplomacy, is passing away. Flats are to be built there now.

The latest owner of one of those fine old Arlington Street houses overlooking the Green Park to move is the Marquess of Zetland—and all the beautiful things assembled at No. 19 by his ancestor, Sir Lawrence Dundas, in the eighteenth century, are to be sold.

Beautiful tapestries worked to pastoral designs by the French painter, Francois Boucher, were brought to No. 19 Arlington Street from Moor Park, Rickmansworth. It was the Scotsman, Neilson, who induced Boucher to put aside his other work in order to make the figure subjects for the Gobelins tapestry panels, for the pleasure of "My Lady Dundas."

Much of the furniture, and even the carpets, were made to designs by Robert Adam.

Correspondence from Neilson, the "contractor," is still preserved, and we read that people in high places were not against "running the customs."

Lustres were to be added to the adornments of Home Park, but the glassware was contraband in England. One letter from Neilson regrets that he had not yet found an opportunity of sending the glassware.

"I have taken pains to discover how it would be possible to send them to London," he wrote. "At last I have learned that the Count of Malzan, the Prussian Ambassador, has much personal property at Paris which he is constantly moving.

"Should the circumstances be suitable, I have no doubt that he will seize this opportunity to oblige my Lady Dundas. I must send to him immediately. I do not see any other way, since lustreware is contraband in England."

Another important event in the art world is the loan exhibition of "Porcelain through the ages" now in progress at the Park-lane residence of Sir Philip Sassoon.

The value of the exhibits is estimated at £250,000. There are treasures of Chinese porcelain in one small room which could not be bought for less than £50,000—and they are not even insured.

Together, they tell the romantic story of porcelain from the Chinese Sung period of A.D. 960 until the eighteenth century.

Sir Philip Sassoon, who is himself a well-known connoisseur, says that "it surpasses anything I have ever seen."

The Queen, who has one of the finest collections of porcelain in the country, has sent about thirty objects, which include Chinese, Dresden, Derby, Amstel, Coalport, Vienna, Worcester, Salopian and Bow porcelain.

Among them is a dainty pair of baskets with blue and gold floral decorations, bearing the initial "E," representing the name of Elizabeth Landgravine of Hesse Homburg, daughter of George III. There is also a Worcester plaque painted by Doe with a view of St. Paul's Cathedral.

The famous collection of Chinese famille verte belonging to the Hon. Mrs. Ionides is also there. It includes a temple jar worth at least £5,000—there are only seven of them in the world—and a miniature teapot which was bought for £250 a quarter of a century ago.

Young People's Church Societies

VICTORIA WEST

The Victoria West Young People's Society held its regular monthly social at the home of Rev. and Mrs. W. R. Brown on Tuesday evening. A short sing-song, led by Jack Wallace, opened the meeting, after which games were played throughout the evening which created much enjoyment among the members. A spelling match was also played, led by Mr. Brown and Mr. Milley. At the conclusion of the games refreshments were served by Mrs. Brown, assisted by the Misses Agnes Bennett and Gladys Dayton. Jack Price reminded the members of the conference to be held in Vancouver on May 19-20. It is expected that four delegates will be sent from this society. The arrangements for the tennis club are being left in the hands of Mr. Milley, and further plans will be made within the next two weeks.

The meeting next week will take the form of a mock trial, and will be under the direction of Jack Wallace. The meeting is expected to create much enjoyment, and all young people of the district are invited to attend and to bring their friends.

OAK BAY Y.P.A.

"The Master's Loyalty," a subject dealing with Christ's great fidelity to the cause, the the needy and to His friends and to His Father at His darkest hour, His wonderful healing powers and love, was revealed in a most impressive meditation which was given by Miss Beatrice Hollins on Tuesday evening to the members of the Obypa Club at the Oak Bay United Church. David Stott, vice-president, was convener for the evening. Various topics dealing with books and best sellers were discussed by three members. Mrs. C. Gibbard gave a review of "The Magnificant Obsession," by Lloyd C. Douglas; Miss Jean Smith spoke on "Best Sellers," and E. Garman on a book by Sir Herbert Samuel, "The Tree of Good and Evil." Musical selections were rendered by Mrs. Kinghorne's orchestra, and piano solos by Miss Iris Gaskill. During the business period a letter from the Young People's Council of Vancouver, invited two delegates to represent the club at the big conference to be held there May 19 and 20, at the St. Andrew's Wesley Church. All members are urged to attend the beach party and wiener roast to be held next Tuesday. The prayer of the evening was taken by W. Horne.

CENTENNIAL

The regular meeting of the Centennial Young People's Society was held on Tuesday evening in the church parlors. A report was heard from the committee investigating the possibilities of obtaining tennis courts for the coming season. It was reported that those wishing to play could use the courts of Knox Presbyterian Church on payment of the regular fee. It was decided to ask Frank Hollins to reconsider his resignation from the position of dramatic convener and sports convener.

It was found that Miss Janet Hay, Miss Eileen Foster and Jim McKague will attend the Young People's conference to be held in Vancouver in May.

The speaker of the evening was the Rev. T. A. McKelvie, who spoke of "The Importance of Youth." Mr. McKelvie stressed the importance of using leisure time while young to develop character and talents, and he showed how beneficial this was in after life.

ST. AIDAN'S Y.P.S.

The St. Aidan's Young People held a most enjoyable social on Monday evening. The Young People's Society of Wilkinson Road were the guests of the evening. The meeting opened with a short business session, during which time the minutes were read and the editor gave a brief report on the paper. An enjoyable evening of games and entertainment followed. An impromptu performance was given by some of the members of the trial scene from "The Merchant of Venice." Later all adjourned to the assembly room, where several musical numbers were heard. Miss Mary Armitage sang two delightful solos. Miss Barbara Dawson gave several piano numbers and Mr. Lord sang a couple of songs. Dainty refreshments were served and the evening closed by the singing of "Blest Be the Tie That Binds."

ST. ALBAN'S A.Y.P.A.

The regular meeting of the St. Alban's A.Y.P.A. was held on Wednesday, April 18. The visitor of the evening was Mr. A. Pearson, treasurer of the St. Luke's A.Y.P.A. A dance will be held on May 18, from 9 to 1, at St. Luke's and St. Alban's. Admission will include refreshments. Jack Carter's orchestra will provide the music.

PRESSURE HEAVY IN WASHINGTON

Business and Industry Vie With Politics and Lobbies in Keeping It High

By RODNEY DUTCHER

Washington, April 20. —It isn't the heat, the humidity, or even the cold weather. It's the pressure.

Everywhere you turn in this turbulent capital, you notice the pressure. It weighs heavily on the president, on the New Deal headliners, and on Congress.

Big Business and industry lead in applying this pressure—against the stock market, Wagner, Tugwell, tariff, unemployment insurance, munitions investigation, and other bills.

Business and industry are by far the most powerful force to-day. They forced revision of the Wagner, stock market, Tugwell and tariff bills, made Roosevelt rebuff the A.F. of L. in the auto settlement, and sponsored the idiotic Wirt furore.

They dominate NRA and balk New Deal or brain trust efforts at least once a week.

Political pressure is exceptionally strong on Congress. So many members face primary or election fights.

The high-pressure veterans' lobby led Congress to administer Roosevelt his first major legislative defeat. Patronage pressure was never heavier. Members even encountered potent pressure from their secretaries and henchmen in federal jobs when the issue of restoring the federal pay cut came up.

Many are frantically grabbing at publicity chances in strange ways—they'd turn cartwheels up an down Pennsylvania Avenue if it would get them favorable mention in home town newspapers.

Labor pressure seems weak, though it may yet influence Congress importantly. Farmer pressure isn't up to par, as for every dissatisfied farmer there seems to be a farmer contented and hopeful.

Even so, these old-time forces contribute to the pressure felt from all directions, as every organized group seeks to bend the New Deal toward its own interests. . . . Down to the poorest paid stenographer, pressure is felt in one way or another.

MORE HOPEFULS

SHOW ENTRIES CLOSE MONDAY

Most Colorful Flower Display on Record Expected at Willows

Plans for the spring flower show to be held at the Willows, April 27 and 28, are nearing completion, and entries will close on Monday, April 23.

In previous years it has sometimes been the practice to accept entries at a later date. This year owing to the work involved in arranging for the opening of private gardens on Wednesday, involving much extra secretarial work, the rule requiring entries to be made not later than April 23, will be more strictly enforced, reports P. R. Leighton, secretary of the association.

While the extraordinary early season will bring out different selections of flowers from those usually exhibited at this time of the year the variety and number of exhibits is expected to exceed all previous records and to make the most colorful display ever staged at a spring flower show.

The Vancouver Island Horticultural Association in preparing its prize list has always taken into account the fact that the blooming time for spring flowers varies from year to year, and has provided what is in effect a double prize list, one-half of which will be well filled in the early season and the other one-half in the late season.

TULIPS FEATURE

This year the tulip classes will be the prominent feature. In spite of the early season there will still be quite a good showing of daffodils on display, but tulips will predominate, and their brilliant colors will be added to by the no less varied colors of many flowers now in full bloom, which usually are not even in bud at this time. Among these, irises will be a prominent feature. Among new classes added to meet this situation is a display of irises on a three foot run of tiered staging, the prizes for which have been presented by Mrs. F. H. Keene of Cobble Hill.

Other special prizes to be won this year include trophies presented by the Canadian Bank of Commerce, H. Lethaby, A. B. Morkill, E. M. Whyte, Dr. C. F. Hilton and F. W. Raven. Prizes for the children's classes are being presented by The Victoria Daily Colonist and The Victoria Daily Times. For the Scout and Guide display a challenge shield has been presented by Rockhome Gardens Limited. This competition calls for a display of flowers or plants or both in a space four feet by four feet, and is open to any unit of the Boy Scouts or Girl Guides.

EDITOR'S STRATEGY WORKS TOO WELL

New York, April 20.—One of the editors of a national magazine for years has employed a simple strategy to rid his office of pests.

When he finds himself with a long-winded visitor he presses a button which summons an office boy. The boy hurries in and says: "Excuse me, sir; General Hugh Johnson (or Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau, or Amelia Earhart Putnam) is waiting to see you and seems to be in a hurry." The editor's unwelcome visitor takes a hint, and his departure.

The executive was having pest trouble the other day, so he surreptitiously pushed the button. In a few moments a newly-hired office boy appeared. He said "Colonel Charles Lindbergh is waiting to see you."

The visitor fled and the editor returned to his toil, thankful for a chance to catch up with some important matters. After about half an hour he glanced up to find the office boy again, looking pretty distraught.

"Colonel Lindbergh seems kinda sore," said the youngster. "I told him you were in conference with a couple of senators, but I don't think he'll wait much longer."

MORE WEAPONS ARE DONATED

Interesting Firing Pieces Added to City Police Armory By P. J. Sinnott

Four more interesting relics to-day were added to the city police armory collection of old firing pieces and weapons, with a generous donation from P. J. Sinnott. Two pistols, a rifle and a military bayonet were presented to the department, which is supervised by C. L. Harrison, city prosecutor, and Detective Jack Rogers.

One of the pistols was used by the guard on the last stage coach running over General Wade's Military Road from Inverness to Perth through the Scottish Highlands. It was received by the late P. J. Sinnott Sr., during a trip to Scotland some time ago.

The rifle was that used by the famous military character, "Fighting Mac," who served with the Imperial Army in Arghanistan. Its owner was General Sir Hector McDonald. At the time the gun was used, Sir Hector was a private in the British army. The gun has the government stamp on the butt, and printed on the barrel is "Tower—1858," an indication that it was used in the Tower of London during that period. The Crown, with "V.R.," printed underneath, is also stamped on it. Both the pistol and the rifle are muzzle loader and in good working order, except for the firing pins.

The other revolver is of a later type. The bayonet, which was found on the Indian Reserve, is one presumably used by the militia.

B.C. Portfolios Are Distributed

Distribution of the portfolios in the Provincial Cabinet among the ministers who remain in the Capital in the absence of the delegation at Ottawa was completed yesterday afternoon.

Hon. A. Wells Gray, Minister of Lands, who has been named acting Premier will also be acting Minister of Finance and acting Provincial Secretary.

Hon. K. C. MacDonald, Minister of Agriculture, will be acting Attorney-General.

RESIGNATION OF ALDERMAN TAKEN

Ladysmith, April 20. — Alderman Vandecasteyen's resignation was before the council meeting yesterday evening, and, amid a furore of regrets and appreciations, the resignation was accepted.

The special committee of the council reported on the meeting with Mr. Boness and Mr. Macdonald, representatives of the Nanaimo Light, Power & Heating Company. The company's offer to purchase the entire city plant and franchise did not meet with the approval of the committee, but they recommended to the council that the company's offer to supply the city with power in bulk be favorably considered.

The company offers a three-year agreement, at a price of 3.19 cents per k.w. The city plant during 1933 produced at an average cost of 4.26 cents per k.w.

The by-law fixing the mill rate was considered in committee and finally passed. With eighteen mills for schools and twenty-two mills for general purposes, the total of forty is a reduction of two mills from the rate of last year.

ANGELS ARRIVE, CHORINES HAPPY

New York, April 20.—Surest harbinger of a boom during the rest of the theatrical season is the presence in town of two visiting "angels," one from Cleveland, one from Chicago, both begging for a chance to back a show—almost any show. And with prospects of more jobs, chorus girls and other stage folk are made happy.

Broadway has not seen an angel since an Italian restaurateur financed a production two seasons ago which lasted exactly one night. But the fellow's business card still reads: "Caterer and Theatrical Producer."

Edmonton, April 20. — Extradition proceedings against James Fahey, Jasper citizen recently revealed as Frank Grigware, fugitive lifer from the Leavenworth, Kansas, penitentiary, yesterday were set over to May 14. The adjournment was taken at the request of the United States government. Fahey will be permitted to return to his home in Jasper pending the hearing.

Victoria West Ladies' Aid—At the meeting of the Ladies' Aid of Victoria West United Church, held on Tuesday afternoon, it was decided to hold a luncheon party at the Hudson's Bay store on Tuesday, May 15, at 12.30 p.m. Members and friends are cordially invited to join the ladies at this luncheon. The annual garden party was arranged to be held on June 20, in the grounds of Mrs. Newell's home, 840 Craigflower Road.

St. Andrew's Y.W.S.—The Young Women's Missionary Society of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church held a very successful silver birthday tea recently in the lecture room of the church. Mrs. W. G. H. Firth, the president, welcomed the guests. There were twelve tables very tastefully decorated in an original manner by members of the society, each representing a month in the year. Miss Margaret Sanson was convener and Mrs. William Ellis presided at the tea table, the centrepiece of which was a beautiful bowl of red tulips and mauve lilac.

Bazaar at St. Ann's.—Friends of St. Ann's Convent will be interested to learn of the forthcoming afternoon and evening bazaar to be held on Wednesday, April 25, in the convent, and at which the various stalls will be in charge of committees of Victoria Subdivision Catholic Women's League, home cooking; Esquimalt Subdivision League, tea and refreshments; the Association of St. Ann's Former Pupils, the candy stall; the Knights of Columbus, games, and further attractions will be provided, all tending to furnish an enjoyable day. The grand drawing of tombola prices will take place in the evening.

PRICES RISE BUT TEA STILL MOST ECONOMICAL

Three years of disastrously low prices for tea finally goaded the growers into action and committees were formed a few months ago to control production. Prices have already advanced and as soon as merchants have exhausted their present stocks the housewife will have to pay slightly more for her favorite beverage. Finest teas such as "Salada" still produce about 5 cups for a cent. ***

PRESIDING AT GUIDE SESSIONS

Mrs. Alan Morkill, B.C. Provincial Commissioner of the Canadian Association of Girl Guides.

Provincial Council Girl Guides Open Sessions

Interesting Reports Presented at Meeting at Empress Hotel To-day

Brownie Training and Extension Work Among Blind Is Reviewed

With delegates from all parts of the island and the mainland in attendance, the annual meeting of the Provincial Council of the Canadian Girl Guide Association opened this morning at the Empress Hotel, in the Duke of Kent dining room. Mrs. Alan Morkill, provincial commissioner, presided.

EXTENSION WORK

Miss Leigh, commissioner for extension work, and also a worker for the Canadian National Institute of the Blind, gave a most interesting talk of the work being carried on among the blind in this province, and suggested how Guides might help along this humanitarian undertaking. Guides should "look wide," she said, and those in rural districts should make a point of knowing where assistance may be obtained by those facing the losing of their sight.

She spoke of the four blind Guides in a company in Vancouver, where they are treated exactly as the others, and thus encouraged in self-confidence and self-reliance. Miss Leigh also suggested that Guides and Rangers might look up cripples and take them out, or read to invalids, all these good works being within the scope of Guiding in its highest sense.

BROWNIE TEST WORK

Brownie test work and the importance of Brownie training in the Guide movement were dealt with by Mrs. E. W. Abraham, Brown Owl of First Victoria West Pack.

This section, the speaker explained, takes the child between the ages of eight and eleven, when the child mind is most impressionable and habits is mos imperssionable or bad. Therefore a great responsibility, carrying with it a great opportunity, rests with the Brown Owl.

After detailing the qualifications of a full-fledged Brownie, the speaker noted that enrolment is a very important day in a Brownie's life, and mothers should be invited to this ceremony, and thus give an opportunity to understand what the training means, and to co-operate with the Brown Owl.

The tests are divided into four divisions: Intelligence, health, handicrafts and service, and Mrs. Abraham described these in detail as they apply to second class and first class Brownies.

Health tests are important, and here the Brown Owl must aim at common sense, and see that each rule is clearly understood. Correct breathing and posture, care of the teeth and nails are taught.

To win her first class badge the Brownie has more difficult tests, and a high standard of work should be required of them. These tests include semaphore, knitting a useful garment, plant growing and simple cooking. The first class Brownie must know two verses of "God Save the King," and incidentally the correct way to stand when it is sung, eight points of the compass, how to lay and light a fire, to fold clothes neatly, to carry a message correctly, bind up a cut finger or grazed knee, know what to do if one's clothing catches fire, and clean her own shoes.

All these things teach patience, perseverance and thoroughness, and a Brownie who passes these tests before she is eleven years old, gains her "wings," and achieves great honor for herself and her pack.

Proficiency badges can be worked for when first class tests are passed, but it is well to remember that it is not the number of badges which counts, but the real spirit of usefulness, good sportsmanship and service, the speaker emphasized.

THE DELEGATES

Among those attending the meeting are: Mrs. Moxon, deputy provincial commissioner, Divisional commissioners: Mrs. Gale, South Vancouver Island; Mrs. Perry, Point Grey; Mrs. Ames, North Shore; Mrs. Gibson, Vancouver; Miss Leigh, North Burn-

A delightful surprise party in celebration of the silver wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Shipway, "The Chesters," Sunnyside Avenue, was held this afternoon when the self-invited guests placed upon the daintily-arranged tea table a large wedding cake and silver vases of spring flowers. Mrs. W. Walker made a presentation of a silver tea service to Mr. and Mrs. Shipway on behalf of their assembled friends, and a lovely bouquet was offered to Mrs. Shipway by two small children, Patsy Ruth Sinnott and Ralph Spinney, the latter being the little son of Mrs. Clarence Spinney of Tacoma, one of the bridesmaids at the wedding of twenty-five years ago. Mrs. Spinney came over from Tacoma to spend the day in Victoria and attend this afterooon's celebration. At the tea table Mrs. Ernest Day and Mrs. P. J. Sinnott poured tea and coffee. The guests included Mrs. W. Walker, Mrs. S. Pattinson, Miss Norma Pattinson, Mrs. E. Day, Mrs. J. Woollet, Mrs. Percy Walker, Mrs. Muir, Mrs. Hall, Mrs. O. H. Dorman, Mrs. Arthur Villiers, Mrs. E. Miss Isabel Thomas Only Nominee For President Again

W. A. Newcombe Gives Interesting Address on Indian Craftsmanship

Miss Isabel Thomas will be re-elected president by acclamation of the University Women's Club at the annual meeting to be held on May 19, she being the only nominee for this office, according to the report of the nominating committee presented at yesterday evening's meeting of the club, held in the Y.W.C.A.

Others who will also be elected by acclamation to their respective offices will be first vice-president, Dr. H. Hogg; second vice-president, Miss Tervo; corresponding secretary, Dr. Jardine; recording secretary, Miss Rita Sargent. The members of the executive will be chosen at the annual meeting.

INDIAN CRAFTSMANSHIP

William A. Newcombe, former member of the staff of the provincial museum and a recognized authority on Indian lore, was the speaker of the evening, and gave a most fascinating address on the craftsmanship of the West Coast Indians, illustrating his points with a series of fine slides.

The speaker delved into history to show that, long before the advent of the white man in this part of the world, the aborigine had attained great skill in the arts of spinning, weaving and basket-making. With primitive tools and natural materials he had fashioned serviceable and, in many cases, beautiful articles for his own use, among the latter being the finely-woven cedar mats and fringed ceremonial "blankets," the watertight, stitched baskets, and the woven cedar mats. The prairie and inland Indians had not developed the art of wood carving or mat making to such a point because they lacked the soft woods found on the Coast.

Miss Thomas, who presided, welcomed to the meeting Miss Stenhouse, of Dunedin, New Zealand, who is visiting Dr. Jardine and Mrs. G. M. Weir, formerly a member of the University Women's Club of Vancouver.

Miss Lora Blake added much to the pleasure of the evening by singing three numbers, ably accompanied at the piano by Mrs. C. S. Beals.

Junior Jubilee W.A. Held Successful Style Tea

Early Summer Fashions Appropriately Shown at Hudson's Bay Store Yesterday

Lovely Bridal Group Climax to Delightful Parade of Newest Fashions

Victoria's record of brilliant sunshine was almost, if not quite, overshadowed yesterday afternoon at the Jubilee Hospital Junior Women's Auxiliary tea in the Victorian dining-room of the Hudson's Bay Company store, when the "Bay" presented another of its increasingly popular fashion revues. And old Sol added the final touch of perfection to the arrangements, for late spring and early summer fashions were the feature of the afternoon.

Interspersed between the groupings of style and fashion, the Italian School of Music and Dancing, under the leadership of Mme. Attfield, presented a talented display of dancing numbers. Miss Evelyn Holt played the incidental music both for the dancers and the fashion parade.

SPORTS CLOTHES

Sports clothes!—the very name calls up visions of comfort. Knitted suits, jersey sports dresses, the swaying swagger coats and the ever popular Bramble—clothes that keep one feeling, as well as looking, fresh and cool, all were displayed to splendid advantage by the first group of models. Colors were many and varied, lemon yellow, tomato red, steamship grey, mandarin rust, all found their place in this smart galaxy of sports attire. The ever popular white too had its place in the parade—an outstanding model being a white sports dress of a washable jersey knit with pearl button trim. With it, Miss Holms wore a chinchilla swagger coat, Raglan sleeves and a Panama cloth hat in white, with patent leather trim.

As one watched the graceful models parade, coats became, all in a moment, an item of very pressing importance. Mrs. Rattenbury presented a striking picture in a Jaeger sports coat with Buchanan plaid lining in brilliant design, with a smart hand-made hat of yellow, brown, red and white combination weave. Miss Bowden, too, was exceedingly smart in a Lido novely weave coat and cruise blue pari meme straw hat, Peggy model.

REDINGOTES RETURN

Even as exclamations of admiration followed these models, the scene was quickly changed, and it was afternoon frocks and ensembles that graced the stage. Shades of our grandmothers! Is it the redingote come back from the dim distant past? It is!—a redingote brought up-to-the-minute, a thing of grace, a thing of dainty frills, that still, however, holds something of its romantic past to enchant us. Only two redingote models were shown. Worn by Miss Carey and Miss Holms, they made instant appeal. In the grouping of afternoon ensembles, Mrs. Tautz was smart in a black triple sheer three-piece model, with white crepe blouse and black cire ribbon scarf. A Caroline Reboux brim hat completed the effect.

For summer dance wear there is nothing daintier, crisper or more youthful than printed, stiffened organdie—or soft, smooth printed silks. Gay pastel colors on white or beige grounds, with ruffles at the shoulders, square necklines and the new streamlined trains that make one look romantic.

CARTWHEEL HATS

Hats! hats!—and more hats! There is the felt hat for swaggering about, Panama cloths and crepe boucle brims for spectator sports. A cartwheel with flowers on the brim for afternoon. Horsehair for cocktails, fabric straws for dinner dates. Blessed is the woman who may have many of them, for this is a year of hats—for every costume.

The wee miss and her growing sister were accorded no small place in yesterday's parade of fashion. From the ages of six to fourteen a variety of frocks were modeled that for style and smartness of design followed close upon the heels of their older sisters. Little June Gibson started the juvenile parade with a presentation of the ultra-modern in play clothes for a miss of six summers, when she appeared in white linen shirt and pleated shorts. Flowered prints, voiles, crepes, piques, playtime frocks, dress-up and party dresses followed. Daphne Sutton modeled the nine-year-old frocks, and Miss Margaret Jubb the junior girls of fourteen.

The bridal grouping presented an exquisite climax to an interesting afternoon. Miss Pearson as the bride chose a wedding gown—all the more striking because of its departure from the traditional white—of shell pink satin, silhouette style, with pearl button trim and capelets over the shoulders. Pink gardenias across the neckline, a long train, pink veil of bridal tulle, and pearl-finished orange blossoms all added to the picture.

The great sheaf of Calla lilies carried by the bride, and the beautiful bridesmaids' bouquets of carnations and roses, were presented through the courtesy of Brown's Victoria Nurseries Ltd.

Miss Carey and Miss Holms were dainty bridesmaids in dresses of blue patterned lace and net, with flowers of self material at neckline and belt. Their brimmed hats were of Swiss braid trimmed with sky taffeta, blue velvet ribbon and French flowers. June Gibson, the train bearer, wore a floor-length frock of blue silk net, daintily ruffled and trimmed with French flowers at neckline. Encircling her dark curls was a matching French flower head band.

Each model had her hair carefully dressed in the "Bay's" own beauty salon; her make-up, shaded and matched to every gown, was by Elizabeth Arden, and her hosiery, chosen with special care for each garment, from the "Lady Hudson" styles.

Strawberry Vale W.I. To Mark Birthday

The president, Mrs. J. Harper, occupied the chair at a special meeting of Strawberry Vale Women's Institute held at Colquitz Hall yesterday afternoon. Final arrangements were made for the anniversary supper which will take place at the hall on Friday, May 18, when the members of the institute will be hostesses to the Colquitz company of Girl Guides. An invitation will also be extended to the company at Tillicum to be present on this occasion. Mrs. George Austin consented to convene the birthday cake.

In accordance with the usual custom of the institute in giving prize books to the pupils of Strawberry Vale School, it was suggested that this year the prizes be awarded for English. Formerly these prizes have been given for penmanship and arithmetic.

Mrs. Cammidge agreed to act as secretary-treasurer until the end of the year. The treasurer was instructed to send a cheque for the balance left over from Strawberry Vale Hall funds to the new trustees, who have recently taken over the community hall.

Kay Francis Gets Divorce Honors

Hollywood, April 20.—The title of filmdom's leading divorcee goes, without a struggle, to Kay Francis, who recently filed suit for divorce from Kenneth McKenna, her fourth husband.

The act alone caused only mild surprise in the celluloid colony.

But even some of Kay's close friends will be startled to learn that McKenna, himself a well-known screen actor and director, was Kay's fourth husband. He was thought generally to be her second.

Apparently, Kay has been mighty successful in keeping her past a deep dark secret. When she arrived in the film colony she was married to F. Dwight Francis, who was said to have been her first husband. A little sleuthing brings to light the fact that he was her third.

No dates regarding either of those marriages can be secured, except that her divorce from Gaston came before January, 1928, when he married Rosamond Pinchot, niece of Governor Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania.

Miss Francis declines to make any comment on these marriages, just as she refuse to discuss her current divorce action from McKenna.

PIONEER OF ALBERNI DIES

Port Alberni, April 20.—Another Alberni pioneer resident passed away at an early hour Wednesday in the person of Mrs. Mary Ellen Roseborough, wife of Samuel G. Rosenborough of Port Alberni, in her seventy-first year.

Born in Lakefield, Ont., Mrs. Roseborough first came to this district forty-one years ago, but did not stay long at that time. She returned in 1906, and resided here ever since.

Besides her husband she is survived by two sisters and four brothers, Miss Mabel B. Wood, Port Alberni; Mrs. H. Bickell, Lakefield, Ont.; Messrs. Robt. H. Wood and Jas. R. Wood, Port Alberni; Alex. Wood, New Westminster, and Norman Wood, Coquitlam.

The funeral was held Thursday at 2.30 o'clock. Services were conducted by Rev. A. MacLean of the United Church, interment being in Alberni Cemetery.

Garden City

The Garden City Ladies' Aid Society met at the home of Mrs. Scott, Jasmine Avenue, on Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. P. Fryatt presiding.

In memory of their late member, Mrs. H. James, the meeting stood in a few moments of silence.

It was arranged to hold a "surprise" concert on May 31, with Mrs. Scott as programme convener.

A home cooking stall has been arranged for June 2 at the David Spencer store.

The silver tea arranged for this week has been postponed until June.

At the close of the meeting Mrs. Scott served tea, assisted by Miss Jean Scott.

Colwood

Colwood Women's Institute held their monthly meeting Wednesday afternoon, Miss Kelly presiding. Correspondence read by the secretary included annual reports of organizations to which the institute had made donations during the year.

Arrangements were made for a card party to be held in Colwood Hall Wednesday evening, April 25, at 8 p.m. Bridge and five hundred will be played.

Miss Meta Hodge, R.N., will speak at the May meeting of the institute, which will be held in the evening, details to be announced later.

Yellow tulips and iris were an attractive table centre for the tea table, presided over by Mrs. T. Millburn and Mrs. E. C. Parker.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hughes have as their guests, the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. Hughes, who have arrived from Seletar, Singapore.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

SERIOUS TYPE OF VOMITING DEMANDS MEDICAL ATTENTION

The spitting up so common to young babies, technically called "regurgitation," is relatively unimportant. In most instances it indicates too generous a feeding, too tight clothes or perhaps too much activity following a feeding. Shortly after baby is fed the milk comes up in pretty much the state in which it went down.

CORRECTIVE STEPS

Lengthening the intervals between feedings if they are three-hour periods, cutting down on the time spent at breast, or altering the formula are the first steps which can be taken. If the baby is being handled after feeding, that is an easy matter to correct. In the first week or two of baby's life tight binders are quite often productive of that sort of "tummy compression" which leads to spitting up.

Real vomiting is quite another problem. This develops because of correctable errors in the diet, perhaps too much cream or too much sugar or too high a proportion of protein in the formula. One can discover the possible causes of trouble by comparing the baby's diet in every particular with other diets for babies the same age and weight, and in comparing his formula with standard formulas. Every successful formula need not be exactly alike, but if there is a wide difference and the results are persistently chronic vomiting, there is some cause for suspicion that all is not as it should be.

MOST SERIOUS TYPE

Of all types projectile vomiting is the most serious. No matter whether the baby is breast or bottle fed, he vomits persistently and with great, forceful gushes after being fed. The cause of such vomiting is usually some physical constriction present in the muscular gateway leading from the stomach into the small intestine. This muscle should expand and allow food to pass in regular rhythms until the stomach is empty. If the muscle is too tight, there is so little expansion that not enough food can pass and the stomach is consequently almost possible to empty.

The natural muscular contractions which are intended to send the food into the small intestine result only in sending it out of the mouth in a stream with such force that the food is shot sometimes several feet from baby. This condition has little to do with food. It can be dealt with either by medicines which improve the elasticity of the pylorus, the muscular gateway, or by the use of thick and concentrated foods which cannot easily be vomited and do inevitably pass the stomach. An operation may be the last resort. When this type of vomiting is present, consult a physician to avert the disaster of allowing baby to starve in the belief that the food is at fault.

RELIEF BILL IS SIGNED

Measure Enabling Federal Payments Completed By Senate Yesterday

Canadian Press

Ottawa, April 20.—Compared with its stormy passage through the House of Commons, the government's 1934 unemployment relief bill had an easy path through the Senate. It received third reading yesterday and was scheduled to be signed to-day. After that the government will be able to make contributions to provinces for unemployment relief, which it has been precluded from doing since the former act expired March 31.

Rt. Hon. George P. Graham of Brockville, Ont., told the Senate he had certain objections to the bill, but would not press them owing to the urgency of the demand for relief

NEW TAXES IN NOVA SCOTIA

Bill Before Legislature Provides For Telegraph And Other Levies

Canadian Press

Halifax, April 20.—The Nova Scotia government's new taxation measure, designed to increase revenues of the province by $100,000, had been explained in the Legislature to-day.

Higher taxes were forecast for banks, trust, loan, finance and telephone companies, and new levies on chain stores, telegraph companies and corporations capitalized at less than $25,000.

A levy of five cents will be made on all telegraph messages, excepting press and commercial news dispatches, transmitted between two points within the province.

Chain stores will be taxed whether locally owned or not, but farmers' co-operative associations formed under specific acts of the Legislature will not be taxed.

The legislation now awaits only third reading and the Lieutenant-Governor's signature to become law. It is retroactive to the first of the present year.

LOST INTERVIEW OF THE EX-KAISER IS MADE PUBLIC

AT CROSSROADS

The Russo-Japanese war was three years past. Germany had come to a crossroads and was a little off the path. She was carrying on a naval race with Great Britain, a military race with France.

The Algeciras conference, at which Great Britain, Russia and Italy had opposed the fatherland in agreeing to recognize the priority of French interests in Morocco, had left her somewhat of an Ishmael among the nations.

So, the German Foreign Office evidently believed the Kaiser had spoken too freely.

The Hale interview as to appear in The Century Magazine of December, 1908. The German Foreign Office gave it a thorough editorial scouring, removing most of the dynamite.

CRUISER SENT

Then, it was decided the interview should be suppressed. It was, just before publication. The pages were yanked out, crated and stored in a warehouse. The German cruiser Bremen came to New York, loaded the crates aboard and in mid-Atlantic tossed them overboard.

The crates declined to sink and the Bremen lowered boats and took them aboard again. Eight imperial German officers, according to the story, stripped and went down into the engine room, from which enlisted men temporarily were barred, and fed the printed pages to the fire boxes.

Theodore Roosevelt, then President of the United States, was supposed to have had a copy of the interview, but it has not been located. During the World War, Hale was urged to use the article as anti-German propaganda, but declined.

ALL PUBLISHED NOW

In The Atlantic Monthly article, the original interview, before expurgation, is u. d. W. H. Hale found it after his father's death in 1924.

The Kaiser's first remarks concerned Theodore Roosevelt.

"What a man he is!" the Emperor told Hale. "Mr. Roosevelt is an inspiring example of the force of personality."

William II then developed a thesis. "It isn't genius the world needs, nor brilliancy, nor profound learning, half so much as personality. The big things in the world are always done by just a man—one man—one strong personality."

The conversation then turned to war.

"In a world of practical facts," the Kaiser said, "we have to fight, even for righteousness' sake. The Bible is full of fights—jolly good fights some of them were. It is a mistaken idea that Christianity has no countenance for war."

He contended the sword should clear the way for the missionary.

ASIATIC QUESTION

The Asiatic situation was the Emperor's chief theme.

"Everybody knows what must come to pass between Asia and the West, the yellow race and the white," he said. "We are unworthy of our fathers if we are negligent of the sacred duty of preserving the civilization which they have achieved for us and the religion which God has given us."

He thought the Japanese had been overestimated as fighters; they were too small in stature.

"We know this much about him (the Japanese),.. the Kaiser declared. "He hates the white man worse than the white hates the devil. The Japanese are devils, that is a simple fact. They are devils!"

Consolidation of the east constituted the chief threat to Occidental security, he said, adding that it was the particular duty of the white races to prevent Japan from "swallowing China."

"OPEN DOOR"

China's territorial integrity and the "open door" principle guaranteed by several nations meant nothing, he contended, since Japan was signatory to all such treaties.

The Kaiser said a new treaty among white nations was necessary to preserve China's integrity, and Great Britain should not be a party to it.

"England is a traitor to the white man's cause," he asserted. "If that alliance of theirs with Japan is persisted in, I do not see how the British Empire can be saved from dismemberment."

(The Anglo-Japanese alliance was terminated some years ago).

VISIT OF U.S. FLEET

Australia and New Zealand had invited the United States fleet to visit their shores as a warning to the home land that they had in the United States "a friend who understands the white man's duty better than the mother country seems to understand it," continued the Emperor.

And, he added, President Roosevelt had sent the fleet with that understanding.

The most logical combination of nations to act as "big brother" to China, the Kaiser said, was that of the United States and Germany. He had discussed this matter with Mr. Roosevelt, he said, and Mr. Roosevelt had agreed.

VIEWS ON RELIGION

Religion was the next subject. Hale makes this comment:

"Clearly, he esteems himself a lord with spiritual as well as temporal responsibility."

The Kaiser expressed dislike for the Roman Catholic faith, on the ground that it subordinated Jesus.

BRITAIN AND GERMANY

Next, the Kaiser spoke heatedly of Anglo-German relations.

"What is England's grievance against Germany?" he asked—and answered. This antipathy, he said, was grounded in the British diplomatic policy of opposition to the dominant continental power.

Germany was that power, he declared—passing the British in things, naval and military, cultural and economic.

William II concluded with a eulogy on the white race. His shoulders squared, his eyes flashed, writes Hale.

"The future belongs to the white race, never fear," the Emperor exclaimed. "It belongs to the Anglo-Teuton, the man who came from northern Europe—where you to whom America belongs came from—the home of the German . . ."

"It belongs to the fair-skinned man, and it belongs to Christianity and to Protestantism. We are the only people who can save it.

"There is not power in any other civilization or any other religion that can save humanity, and the future—belongs—to—us!"

Is This a Woman's World? Dorothy Dix Refutes Man Who Says So

The World Belongs to Nature's Fair-haired Child, Woman, Cries Masculine Reader—But Dorothy Dix Points to Man's Advantage In Business, Society and Matrimony

A CORRESPONDENT writes:

"They say this is a man's world, to women and the fullness thereof. Humph! Bolony! The world belongs to women. Women get the best of everything handed to them on a silver salver. They are nature's fair-haired baby child.

"Don't women get the glad hand for performances that nobody would notice if a man did them? Isn't a skirt an alibi for any crime, from bad cooking to petty larceny? Can a woman literally get away with murder either because she is young and pretty, or else because she is a poor old mother? Don't the majority of men spend their lives slaving to support women? When a marriage goes blooey, no matter whose fault doesn't the poor dub of a husband have to spend the balance of his life paying his wife alimony? A man's world, my eye!"

Well, of course, women do have a few perquisites to offset their many disabilities, but, for all of that, it is a man's world and men have the best of things. That this is the case we need no better proof than the fact that practically every woman wishes she had been born a man, but no man is ever so humble and miserable as to wish that he was a woman. Even a baby boy resents being called "sissy."

The compliment that a woman esteems above all others is to have her work called virile, but the deadliest insult you can offer a man is to label his work effeminate. Women try to make imitation men of themselves by wearing trousers and shorts and other masculine habiliments, but you never see a man parading around in high-heeled slippers and swishing skirts, or appearing at a ball in a backless and frontless evening gown.

Then consider the great advantage that men have over women in the matter of looks and age. Except for actors, a man's pulchritude cuts no figure in either his social or professional career. He may be as homely as the proverbial mud fence, but if he is clean and well-pressed and if he is intelligent and has good manners, nobody cares a darn about his looks. The prettiest girls are delighted to step out with him and he may marry whom he chooses. Nor does any employer even notice whether the applicant for a job has wavy hair, and a saucy nose and eyes that look like drowned violets. All he is concerned with is the man's efficiency and ability to hold down the position.

But how different the fate of poor woman, of whom public opinion demands that she must be beautiful though ugly! Socially the homely girl is sunk. Susan might be the concatenation of all the virtues of her sex but she would never have a date if she was bald-headed and fat and freckle faced

And every business woman knows, when it comes to getting a job that being easy on the eyes is more of a help than being a wizard at the typewriter, or a crackerjack accountant.

Then there is age, which to a man is merely an inconvenience, but which is a tragedy to a woman. There is a time limit practically set on a woman's chances of marriage and if she does not get a husband while she is young, she rarely gets one at all. But a man can marry whenever he pleases, no matter if he has one foot in the grave. Age is also popularly supposed to be a sufficient excuse for a man forsaking his wife for a flapper, but no woman would be upheld in divorcing a perfectly good husband just because he had gotten middle-aged and lost his waistline.

In marriage men also have the advantage since every wife is ten times as much married to her husband as he is to her. It is true that he makes the living, but she makes the home, which is a far more strenuous undertaking and one in which there is no thirty-hour week. Her work is from sun to sun, with no holidays or off days from cooking and cleaning and scrubbing and minding the baby.

Nor does the husband have to live under the double strain of trying to support his family and keep his wife vamped so that she will not be casting her eye around at some slim young sheik. His mind is at peace because he knows, in the first place, that his Maria folded up her flirtiousness with her wedding veil and that she has never a thought for anyone but him and the children, and, in the second place, that she is immune from temptation since the philanderers are on the lookout for pretty young girls and pass up middle-aged mothers of families. Half of the trouble of married women, half of their work and worry consists in trying to hold their husbands, but this trouble seldom troubles men about their wives. When they marry a woman, nine times out of ten they have her and can lose her, and they know it.

Then consider how nature discriminates against women in the matter of careers. They have practically to decide between a career and domestic happiness. They seldom, if ever, can have both. That privilege is reserved for men. When a man marries he adds the comforts of a home, the pleasure of a wife's society and the joy of children to his other blessings, and his wife is oftener than not a help in his career.

But when a woman marries she almost invariably finds that career and matrimony do not mix, and that she has to give up one or the other. Her husband wants a wife who is stoking the home fires, not one who is lecturing, or singing, or acting, or decorating a house in another city. She can't leave her own sick baby to go and doctor some other woman's child. It is nobody's fault. It is just the disadvantage of being a woman.

And it is that way all through life. God made man first, and gave him the edge on things.

DOROTHY DIX.

Strawberry Vale

A dance, in celebration of the reopening of the Strawberry Vale Community Hall was held Wednesday evening. Having been built forty-five years ago, the hall has been a landmark for many years, the original trustees being T. Porter, James Daley and John A. McNeil.

For many years the hall was a centre of social activity, but in later years was unused, until a new board of trustees was named, L. Sea, T. Raper and T. Robinson, who repaired the building, and again used it for concerts and dances.

In 1924 the Strawberry Vale Women's Institute took it over as a community hall, but have now relinquished the trust, and another board of trustees have been appointed, namely, F. Ireland, E. Rowland and P. Foster, with an entertainment committee consisting of Mrs. Coleman, the Misses Bessie Faickney, Marjorie and Gertrude Foster, Lillian Roach, and A. E. Scalf, S. Pringle and E. Grant.

The dance Wednesday evening was well attended.

The spot dance was won by Miss Gladys Phippard and T. Cummins, and the statue dance by Miss Diana Cunningham and O. Bentley.

The regular card party of the Strawberry Vale Women's Institute was held in the Institute Hall Monday evening. First prizes were won by R. Watson (substitute) and G. Girton; second prizes by G. Ponsford (substitute) and J. Ponsford, and third by Mrs. W. Paine and Jack Goldie; ten bid, A. W. Ward and J. Ponsford. The tombola prize was won by Mrs. J. Humphries. Mrs. Harper was convener, assisted by Miss Lillian Rowland. Old-time dance was enjoyed.

Mrs. Goodrich and daughter, Joan, who were guests of Rev. and Mrs. Allan, Glyn Road, returned to their home on Salt Spring Island Tuesday, accompanied by Miss Anne Allan.

Miss Rene Clark, Sooke, is the guest of Mrs. Estheridge, Wilkinson Road.

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel."

SATURDAY, APRIL 21, 1934

Strongly adverse planetary aspects active to-day, according to astrology, is a time to avoid all definite ventures to be exemplary in even small matters.

Women under this sway may be cause of many misfortunes and chance acquaintances should be accepted with caution. The stars seem to bode evil for those who adventure in perilous paths. Many will be victims of thieves and murderers. The coming summer, astrologers warn.

As the new era advances old faiths and old chivalries will be revived, it is foretold, and again women will be protected by their own wisdom as well as men's code of honor.

Under this sway accidents are prognosticated. Airplanes may be unlucky in which to end journeys.

This is not an auspicious day for hospitalities, and the guest for Sunday may be disappointing, especially if he has previously won unusual acclaim from the fans.

Association with persons who occupy places in the sun—those on whom fortune has smiled—may not be fortunate today. In club libraries or at informal dinners the wise man who has hope of benefit through personal contacts will stay in the background.

Unemployment problems again are likely to become critical and May 1 will be the demonstrations of unrest and dissatisfaction, even though the stars presage approaching prosperity.

Persons whose birthdate it is have an augury of a year of startling and interesting experiences. They should guard against fires and robberies.

Children born on this day probably will be courageous in mind and body. Many subjects of this sign have a keen sense of human values and a ready wit.

James Martineau, noted English Unitarian divine and metaphysician, was born on this day, 1805. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include Henry Shaw (Josh Billings), humorist, 1818, Princess Elizabeth, granddaughter of King and Queen of England, 1926.

Technocracy Chief Unfolds New Eden

ward Scott Gives Victoria udience Virile Account of New Scheme

Howard Scott, forty-two-year-d director in chief of Tech-ocracy, a man with the body of athlete and the fast talk of radio entertainer, tossed rapid ograms at an audience of out 600 in the City Temple sterday evening, unfolded a pic-ure of a new Eden, regimented d mechanized, and explained to s hearers he was not "dumb" ough to tell them the tactics which his Technocracy would entually inevitably come into ing.

s address included a review of nocratic statistics announced ly two years ago.

scorned completely and emphati-the existing order and tossed out it Communism and Fascism, from the ranks of science, which ated on the maxim "Does it work? ot, throw it away" would he take plans, claiming that only the ctional was of value.

chnology had solved the question nass production. It was up to nocracy to solve the attendant blems it brought with it, he said. chnocracy was still a growing . In one year and eleven months d built up a following larger than munism in all its history in one , he said.

sketched in detail the proposed technocracy credits, the only of currency which could not be ed, given away or in any way zed to build up debt claims.

r. Scott spoke of the birth of nocracy, noting scientists and nologists during the world war come face to face with the type an who produced purely for pri-profit, wasting without stint.

1920 the scientists had banded nselves into a society in New , where technological evidence deduced from statistical reports.

Such things pointed to the lute impossibility of a man shut-himself up on a little piece of , with his own ignorance, and oughly enjoying himself.

HNOLOGICAL DEVELOPMENT

Scott referred to technological lopment in agriculture and in-ry, pointing in each case to the lanting of man power by the hine.

he problem of this continent is confined to political boundary . The problem is one of creating purchasing power to buy the ut of mass production," he said, racket is a racket as long as there is a pay off. When there ceases to be a pay off, it becomes a national washout," Mr. Scott said, commenting on efforts to continue the price system.

There were still a few national economic white rabbits for Premier Bennett and President Roosevelt to pull out of their hats, he said, but inevitably they would turn to white elephants, he stated.

The United States was going to be very sick when the hypodermic injections used by Roosevelt to keep up the price system through creating debt claims were increased next year.

MUST BE ENDERMIC

The recovery and development of the continent would have to be endemic. It would not come from imported Fascism or Marxism, he believed.

It was a big step technocracy called upon the people to make, the speaker said, indicating the plethora of goods and services which would accrue from the running of present facilities using present physical assets at full load.

Under technocracy, only adults between twenty-five and forty-five need work four hours a day for 165 days of the year to provide all requisites for life and ensure security for old age, he said.

In some detail he sketched the suggested new currency which would be held for short periods and could only be spent. It could not be saved, given away or loaned. It would do away with Christian charity and Jewish philanthropy, Mr. Scott said.

Social service, under technocracy, would be functional, not political. Technocratic currency would be divided into two classes, for males and females. "Male currency would not buy 'scanties,' mink coats or silk stockings. There would be no cross kibitzing," Mr. Scott said.

DEFINITION OF CRIMINAL

Turning to crime he gave the technocratic definition of a criminal under the price system as an individual with predatory instincts but insufficient capital to start a corporation.

There would be no litigation as it was known to-day under technocracy. Seventy-five per cent of the barristers of to-day would be working at other businesses, he said.

Mr. Scott spoke of the security almost unavoidable under technocracy.

He spoke of the relatively high wage scale guaranteed and many other advantages from technocracy, stating they could be secured when 10,000,000 people in this country made a concerted drive for them.

By means of diagrams he showed the way in which technocratic currency would be punched in a manner to show, the sex, work, location, purchase and other features of the earner.

"It's kind of tough on those who have built up their own egos when they find all are paid equally." But if a person reacted that way, all he needed to do was to realize the individual only represented a small fraction of the power of coal to the engineer, the speaker said.

Equality of income had been decided upon for the reason that graded salaries were too expensive to regulate.

In conclusion he spoke of the futility of vast thousands voting themselves into oblivion.

COMMUNISM BOURGEOISE

"We consider communism bourgeoise," Mr. Scott remarked, stating b "outfit was the toughest crowd north of the Panama."

"We got the blue prints already to start. We're waiting for you," he replied when asked how soon technocracy would start.

Wielding slang and high class phraseology with the dexterity of a tennis ace swinging his racquet, Mr. Scott batted back replies at questioners, told them to sit down when he thought their inquiries did not merit a reply and explained it would be "dumb" for the leaders of the movement to explain their tactics. They did not have time to educate the vast masses of whose intelligence they were doubtful, he inferred.

He left no doubt in the minds of his hearers that technocracy was not democratic.

When the anticipated switch over came in the United States, it would be immaterial what Canada tried to do, he noted, saying the boundary line would have no effect.

He explained his reasons for stating North America was the best adapted, and probably the only equipped continent which could swing over to technocracy. Such a swing would imply virtually complete isolation. Great Britain and Italy he believed in the worst positions to face the future.

Oak Bay Council Investigates Its Powers to Restrict Residential Values

Maintenance of assessments in Oak Bay in order to conserve the district as a high class residential area is being investigated by the Oak ay Council, following a recent informal discussion with members of the Real Estate Board on assessment and taxation matters generally.

While it is impossible for the council to bring about any immediate revision, investigations are being carried out to determine what powers it has under the Town Planning Act to establish restricting covenants in regard to the value of buildings to be constructed on municipally-owned property.

Members of the board and the council agreed with the latter's plan to keep the district for high class residences.

Other matters were also discussed at the session pertaining to taxes on municipal property. The council's stand of not letting municipal lots go cheaply merely to get them on a tax-paying basis was strongly supported but it was pointed out that numerous privately-owned lots were underselling the municipal property.

All the questions will be taken up shortly by the council and it is expected a report will be submitted on the powers which the council has in regard to building restrictions.

MISSION WORK IS VALUABLE

Need For Spreading Gospel on Island Stressed at Shantyman's Meeting

The importance of the mission work being carried on by the Shantymen's Christian Association on Vancouver Island was stressed in the address and the mission report presented to the association meeting yesterday evening at the Y.W.C.A.

The meeting was attended by more than 150 Christian workers and was held in conjunction with the main executive meeting at Toronto.

Rev. Dr. A. S. Imrie gave the address of the day. He stressed the responsibility of the association in bringing the word of God to men in lumber camps, many of whom were separated from their families in their quest for work and who had no opportunities to worship other than those offered by the mission.

All true Christians should assist these men in their efforts to find God, for this responsibility of the association had to be realized. He appealed for support of the association's work and assured that despite the fact that satanic powers were marshaling their forces in conflict, faith, action and determination would bring the association through successfully.

An outline of the mission work was given by Percy Wills, the island missionary for the association. Mr. Wills related incidents in his work to demonstrate the need for its continuance and its value among the more lonely places of the island. He particularly dealt with activities among the young people in island towns and villages.

It was reported that $285 had been collected as the nucleus for a fund for a mission boat to be equipped by the association for visiting the more out-of-the-way places on the island. Support of this fund was urged.

Rev. J. B. Rowell offered prayers, and Robert Birch read the scripture. Mrs. H. Shingles rendered a vocal solo.

MILL ON SOMASS RIVER IS BUSY

Two Shifts Working in Port Alberni District on 5,000,000-Foot Tie Contract

Port Alberni, April 20.—This district's newest industry, the tie mill built by R. Brayley on the banks of the Somass River, half way between Port Alberni and Alberni, is one of the busiest concerns hereabouts. Its output has been almost doubled this week when six additional men were taken on to make up two shifts, the first from 7 a.m. to 4 p.m., and the second from 4 p.m. to 12 midnight. Mr. Brayley, who has contracts for 5,000,000 feet of railroad ties for the Orient and United Kingdom, expects to employ more men shortly both in the mill and woods.

PEACE PRIZE FOR NEWSPAPER URGED

Associated Press

New York, April 20.—Award of the Nobel Peace Prize to the newspaper or press association which contributes the most to "the peace of the world by its foreign news services" had been suggested to-day by Dean Carl W. Ackerman of the Columbia School of Journalism.

Paying tribute to the newspapers and press associations of the world, he said "there is a direct relationship between the development of a common morality in the world and the profession of journalism."

Seattle, April 20 (Associated Press).—Two Canadians pleaded guilty in Federal Judge Jeremiah Neterer's court here yesterday to entering the United States in violation of the immigration laws and were given suspended sentences of twelve months each. They are Benjamin Frank Rozelle and Ralph Frederick Curley. Suspension was on condition that they be deported.

David Leeming drew attention to the breakdown in the present price system and noted some other policy would have to be adopted.

Drama Festival Reaches High Point Of The Week

Noel Cusack and Archie MacCorkindale, With Vivienne Combe Directing, Gain 95 Marks, Record So Far

Vancouver Entry Comes on This Evening, Along With Adjudicator's Detailed Critiques of All Plays

By M. A.

The high point of the week so far in the British Columbia Drama Festival in the Crystal Garden Theatre was reached yesterday evening with the presentation of three outstanding productions, one of which gained ninety points—which had previously been the high-water mark of the competition—while another went over that figure and set a new high with the attainment of ninety-five points.

The production that went to the top with the award of ninety-five points was that of the Punch and Judy Theatre, "Death Rides the Merry-Go-Round," featuring Noel Cusack in the role of a nun during the Russian revolution, and Archie MacCorkindale in the tragical part of her courageous brother going to his death before a firing squad after a struggle in which she helped him to regain his aristocratic principles, which he had cast aside in the fever of the political turmoil.

Besides the artistry which marked its presentation on the stage before the adjudicator, Mrs. Burton W. Jones of Seattle, and the large fourth-night audience, the play was noteworthy as having come from the pen of Mr. MacCorkindale himself. His lines in themselves had a subtlety, and his handling of the theme showed that he has a well developed sense of dramatic values.

Ned Ashe and Michael Hepple as the jailer and priest, respectively, supported the delicately attuned work of Miss Cusack and Mr. MacCorkindale. The oft-proved skill of Vivienne Combe, who directed, showed itself in the finish, which marked the staging of the production.

GOES INTO FINALS

As a result of winning yesterday evening, "Death Rides the Merry-Go-Round," will go into the finals of the festival, and will be replayed with the other winners Saturday evening in the competition for the grand final awards.

FRASER LISTER BRILLIANT

The play awarded second honors yesterday evening was the "Birthday of the Infanta," an adaptation of Oscar Wilde's story by Stuart Walker, produced by the Victoria Little Theatre Association, and directed by Hugh Creelman. The adjudicator awarded this work ninety points.

One feature of this production was the playing of Diana Hammond of the role of the Infanta, with all the changeableness, enthusiasms, the joy and the spontaneity of a girl of twelve. Her personality captured the audience. Another feature was the devastating realism of the acting of Fraser Lister in the part of the Fantastic, a terrible, misshapen little monster. He manifested an uncanny skill in his characterization, combining an appeal to the senses of horror and pity. The whole production was marked by a finish that would have ensured it being a winner in any ordinary competition.

MISS PARTRIDGE FASCINATING

The third play was the fantastic comedy, "Everybody's Husband," by Gilbert Cannan, produced by the North Saanich Little Theatre, and directed by Ethel Reese Burns. This was awarded eighty-five marks. It was light, bright and smooth. Its feature was the work of the beautiful creature, Gertrude Partridge, in her portrayal of an emotional girl about to be married, and wavering between running away with her dream man or giving herself to her other, Isobel Barry, who played the role of the grandmother, should also have special mention for her work.

HIGH SCHOOL WINS DEBATE

Public Utilities Ownership Argued; Winners Take History Club Shield

After an interesting verbal battle, the Victoria High School debating team yesterday afternoon gained the decision over St. Margaret's schoolgirls in the contest to decide winners of the Modern History Club Shield.

The subject of debate was: "Resolved that all public utilities of Canada should be owned and controlled by the government."

Prof. E. S. Farr of Victoria College; B. C. Nicholas, managing editor of The Victoria Daily Times, and Miss Margaret Clay of the Public Library acted as judges.

Miss Hazel Wright, opening the affirmative for St. Margaret's, declared public utilities belonged to the masses, not to the few. If capitalistic interests once dominate a public utility, the people were at its mercy." When financial crisis came and private concerns failed, the government had to step in and take hold, as with the railways of New Zealand, she argued.

Luther Janson of Victoria High School opened for the negative with the argument that in private concerns promotion comes only when a man had shown his worth, while in government promotion went with seniority.

"The government," he said, "does not use sound business tactics, because the money expended by it is not its own, as in private concerns, and if it fails it does not mean the lowering of a salary or loss of a position."

GOVERNMENT MORE FIT

Miss Willena Graham, second speaker for the affirmative, told of an extensive electrical power house on the Great Lakes, once operated at a loss by a private concern, which, after being taken over by the government, paid huge profits. She said financial wizards of the United States of America came to the plant and inspected it thoroughly, in the end deciding that a government was the more fit to handle public utilities.

"Private ownership gives competition, a high quality and low rates, while government control gives no competition, mediocre quality and high rates," said George Gregory, second speaker for the negative. "Thomas Edison said private concerns may not raise their prices because of competition, while the government may give cheap rates and cover the losses by a raise in taxes." In conclusion, Gregory cited a loss of $58,000,000 in last year's operation of the C.N.R. as an instance of futility of government ownership.

Miss Wright gave a three-minute rebuttal.

Prof. E. S. Farr, speaker for the judges, praised the high standard of oratory used by the debaters, with particular reference to the final speaker for the negative.

Struan Robertson, president of the Beta Delta Society, was the chairman.

Trade Treaty Rates Changed

Canada Reduces British Preference List in Tariff Alterations

Canadian Press

Ottawa, April 20.—Changes in the tariff schedules announced in the Rhodes budget involve ten alterations, by mutual agreement, in the Ottawa trade agreement between Canada and the United Kingdom, in which the preference is removed entirely or greatly lessened by abolishing or lowering the intermediate and general tariffs. In several instances the preference is suspended only for a short time until Great Britain is in a position to supply the market.

Butyl alcohol, crude theobromine and dimenthyl sulphate, free under the preference with 25 per cent intermediate and general, were made free from all sources, the butyl alcohol only until October 15 next.

Nitrate of soda, free under the preference but with 15 per cent advalorem intermediate tariff and 25 per cent general, will be free from all sources. Phthalic anhydride and associate acids, and ethylene glycol, which had a 25 per cent intermediate and general tariff, will be free in all divisions.

Amber gum is given a separate classification and admitted free from all sources where heretofore it has been classed with other gums free under the preference with a 15 per cent intermediate and general tariff.

ALUMINUM LEAF

Aluminum leaf, which Great Britain cannot supply, will be given a new classification free from all sources, heretofore free under the preferential tariff and 30 per cent ad valorem intermediate and general.

Parts for coal cutting machines, free under the preferential tariff and 10 per cent general and intermediate, will be free from all sources until January 1, 1935, for machines imported prior to January 1, 1933.

Zanthates and sulpho-thio-phosphoric (dithio - phosphoric) compounds, of particular use to gold mining, will be free from all sources, now free under the preferential and 15 per cent ad valorem, intermediate and general.

Debate on the budget is expected to start next Monday.

The case of William H. Nurse, called in the City Police Court yesterday was adjourned until next Thursday. He is charged with assaulting Angus Macdonald. The case has been adjourned for several weeks, the informant having been in the hospital. It was intimated this morning it may go on next week. P. J. Sinnott is defence counsel.

Follow These Simple RULES OF HEALTH

Good health is not hard nor expensive to get. It is largely a matter of being sensible and reasonable in your living habits. Eat in moderation. Work and sleep with windows open. Take daily exercise in the fresh air. Don't worry. Go to bed in decent time—and once or twice a week take a sparkling glass of Andrews Liver Salt. 11

This last rule is a very important one, because neglect of this rule may nullify the good effects of all the others. THE SCREEN

"SPITFIRE" AT THE DOMINION

Katharine Hepburn Has Lead in Dramatic New Picture, Opening To-day

As an impetuous, unrestrained, semi-wild girl of the Carolina mountains, Katharine Hepburn came to the screen of the Dominion Theatre to-day. The star's new picture, "Spitfire," is a picturization of the stage play "Trigger," which had a long run on Broadway a few seasons ago.

It is the story of an untamed lass who lives alone in a crude cabin in the sparsely settled hills, earning a meager living by washing clothes. Her character is one of the most unique in the annals of the screen and one of startling contradictions; one moment she prays with a child-like faith in God, whereas in the next instant she is a flaming, fighting wildcat. It is only when love enters her soul that she shows signs of womanly surrender. And this surrender is as impetuous as her hostility in her other moods.

She falls in love with a young engineer on a nearby dam project and blindly, innocently gives him her heart and her kisses, believing him when he tells her that he is not married.

WORLD'S FAIR FOLLIES HERE

Jay Flippen and His Company of Entertainers Open Engagement at the Empire

When Jay Flippen decided to launch his own show he made several trips to the Chicago World's Fair and looked at every act and feature to be found in the Century of Progress grounds. Being able to recognize top-notch ability accounts for the splendid choice of stars that are now members of "The World's Fair Follies" which is now at the Empire Theatre.

Prominent among those with the "World's Fair Follies" are Jack Dalton and Company, who spent last summer at the pirate ship at the World's Fair. The Burns Twins performed for the visitors at Manhattan Gardens, while Mahon and Rucker were the sensational dancers at the Blue Ribbon Cafe, and Barney Dean was the Midway clown.

Miss Clare Carter, selected as Earl Carroll's most beautiful girl will work in several numbers with Flippen.

As a special added feature, "Elenore," the surprising terpsichorean artist from the Oriental Village, will offer the Dance Moderne.

British Picture Opens To-morrow

An outstanding attraction, the British International film of Lady Eleanor Smith's famous "Red Wagon," will be presented at the Capitol Theatre to-morrow.

The Prince of Wales attended the first public showing of this film, which was made at Elstree under the direction of Paul Stein, when it was given a royal premiere at the Regal Cinema, London, in aid of the Prince of Wales builder fund of Toc H., raising over $60,000.

Against panoramic backgrounds of British beauty spots, "Red Wagon," a virile story of the loves and hates of half primitive people of the open air, unfolds. It represents a triumph in perfect casting, for the motley of circus and gypsy characters which make up the human fervor of this remarkable story, are chosen from the peoples of several nations.

Also being shown on the same programme is Lilian Harvey in "The Only Girl."

COLUMBIA THEATRE

Dorothy Revier, who was a noted dancer before she entered motion pictures, has an opportunity to display that talent in her newest screen vehicle, "The Fighting Ranger," which is at the Columbia Theatre.

She is cast as an entertainer in a Mexican cafe, and during the course of the picture executes some very graceful steps.

PLAYHOUSE THEATRE

"F.P.1.," the Fox presentation of the new Erich Pommer production, now at the Playhouse Theatre, holds a record for mechanical construction. It is a romance developed around an artificial island in the Atlantic, built for the purpose of providing a stopping point for transocean fliers. The construction took the service of hundreds of men over a period of months, and required infinite research into the most recent aviation developments.

Fay Baker Will Appear April 28

Playing every cabaret of note across the Dominion, this brilliant couple have broken records everywhere, and the press has praised their unique and exquisite work. That Victorians are looking forward to this night is evidenced by the large number of bookings that have been received, and which promises to break all records at the Palais.

Funeral Parlors this morning. A verdict of accidental death was returned. Mr. Sutcliffe died yesterday.

W. Charles Ozard, who was driving the car which struck Mr. Sutcliffe's automobile at the corner of Monterey Avenue and Windsor Road, was the chief witness.

Mr. Ozard stated he was driving north on Monterey Avenue shortly after 5 o'clock in the evening and as he came to the intersection of Windsor Road he saw Mr. Stucliffe's car approaching from his right, proceeding west. He was not able to see down Windsor Road before reaching the corner, his sight being obstructed by the corner house and a holly tree.

He saw Mr. Sutcliffe slacken speed and he did so himself, thinking the other driver would observe his right of way and proceed ahead. Mr. Ozard applied his brakes and said he was practically stopped when his car struck just in front of the rear left fender of Mr. Sutcliffe's car. The road was wet at the time and Mr. Ozard was skidding when the impact occurred. Mr. Sutcliffe's car swung in a semi-circle in front of Mr. Ozard and slid into a turf bank at the northwest corner of the intersection. The impact of hitting this bank threw Mr. Stucliffe's head against the left door of his car, which opened and the aged man fell out. Mr. Ozard stated Mr. Sutcliffe had received his injury when his head struck the door.

Mr. Ozard said he assisted Mr. Sutcliffe out of the car and with others, had taken him into a house nearby.

Miss Joy Whiteside and William Brady, who had been sitting on a vernada at 2225 Windsor Road, told of seeing both cars a few seconds before the impact. They had rendered assistance in removing Mr. Sutcliffe, who was semi-conscious.

Percy Sands testified he had driven past Mr. Ozard just before the accident and he had been proceeding slowly.

Dr. E. W. Boak told of attending the victim at the Jubilee Hospital, where it had been ascertained the base of the skull was fractured, and Chief John Syme and Sergeant H. C. P. Reston of the Oak Bay police gave details of attending the scene of the accident.

In charging the jury, Coroner E. C. Hart stated there could be no indictment unless there was evidence of gross carelessness.

Services for the late Mr. Sutcliffe will be held at the funeral chapel to-morrow morning at 10.30 o'clock, after which the remains will be laid at rest in Royal Oak Burial Park.

LAST TRIBUTE TO REV. W. J. KNOTT

Impressive funeral services were held yesterday afternoon over the remains of Rev. Wallace J. Knott, retired member of the Methodist ministry, in the presence of a large congregation, including representatives of the ministry. The service was conducted by Rev. Daniel Walker, assisted by Rev. C. M. Ward. The hymns sung were, "The Old Rugged Cross," and "Peace, Perfect Peace"; at the graveside was sung "Safe in the Arms of Jesus."

The following acted as pallbearers: H. T. Knott, R. P. Knott, H. V. Jones, William Moore, A. C. Charlton and P. H. Harrison. The remains were laid at rest in Ross Bay Cemetery.

FINE CONCERT AT RECREATION ROOM

A large and appreciative audience at the Citizens' Recreation rooms enjoyed an excellent programme last night. The programme was arranged by Tom Obee. Cecil Heaton was accompanist; Harry Shaw, stage manager, and A. H. Hundleby, chairman.

The following artists assisted, and were received with rounds of applause and demands for encores: Piano solo, Cecil Heaton; conjuring act, John Gow; comedy dance, the Finn Sisters; comic duet, Tom Obee and Stan James; harmonica solo, Evelyn Lavery, accompanied by H. Lavery on auto harp; variety dancing, Ray Hunt and Jack Taylor; Highland dance, Miss Jessie Pollock; guitar and songs, Leo Holden, violin and concertina, Holmes and Anderson; humorous songs, Ernie Impett; songs, Baby Finn, an artist nearly four years old; greetings and humorous talk by Rev. E. F. Church.

A. H. Hundleby announced this as the last concert to be held in the rooms this season, and gave a tentative date in October for resumption of these popular grogrammes. Twenty-four free programmes have been provided since last fall, and Mr. Hundleby expressed his appreciation to the many artists who have given their services to make the concerts possible, and thereby assisting the men who frequent the rooms, many of whom would otherwise seldom get the opportunity to enjoy a good concert. A hearty vote of thanks was passed to the party present. The programme concluded with the singing of the National Anthem.

More Bogus Money Found

Evidence of more bogus coins being circulated in Victoria was given to the city police station early this morning when a local milk man turned in a fifty-cent piece which he had collected on his route.

This is the third half dollar to be turned in during the last two weeks and police have issued a warning to storekeepers and other merchants to be on the lookout for the counterfeit currency.

GIVES TALK ON PYRAMID

Large Audience Hears Dr. J. W. Parker at Chamber of Commerce

That human time, according to the Great Pyramid, was measured in the period of six days, each of a thousand years' duration, was one of the chief points advanced by Dr. J. W. Parker, who lectured to a large audience in the Chamber of Commerce yesterday evening on "The Wonders of the Great Pyramid of Egypt."

"We are now at the closing part of the sixth day, which brings us into the closing age of the prophetic vision. The mathematical proof is as perfectly demonstrated as it is possible to have," said Dr. Parker.

The Great Pyramid, its contours and two of its chief passageways, were portrayed to the audience with numerous lantern slides, while Dr. Parker dwelt with the astronomical pronouncements which, he maintained, were provided by the Great Pyramid, Modern research and astronomical findings had verified these pronouncements, the speaker said.

Dr. Parker dwelt upon some of the prophecies, and paid more particular attention to those related to the present times. In either of the two passages of the Great Pyramid mankind's story could be read, dovetailing with astronomical cycles. The time tallied with Scriptural interpretation of human history, Dr. Parker stated.

The lecture was given under the auspices of the British-Israel Federation. E. E. Richards occupied the chair, and announced that Dr. Parker would lecture this evening on "The Demonstration of Truth of Prophecy." An invitation to attend the lecture is extended to anyone interested in the subject.

Graduate Nurses Establish Fund To Help Jobless

With a view to building up a fund to help remedy unemployment conditions among young private duty nurses, the Victoria Graduate Nurses' Association sponsored a very successful luncheon, followed by bridge, at the Hudson's Bay dining-room to-day.

Miss E. J. Herbert, the president, was in the chair and explained the association's aim in establishing the fund, of which the proceeds of to-day's affair will form the nucleus. Existing conditions have worked a hardship on both nurses and the public, patients being all too often unable to afford the special nursing care so necessary to their progress, while nurses are in consequence jobless.

With the aid of the fund it is hoped to enable nurses to attend some of these cases, at little or no cost to the patient, but the details of administration will be worked out as soon as the fund is large enough, she explained. The action of the association should be a stimulus to many young graduates in the private duty section.

Chemainus

Chemainus, April 20.—First Chemainus Girl Guide Association held its monthly meeting, April 11, at the home of the president, Mrs. Russell Robinson.

As it is unlikely that guiders will be able to attend the annual meeting to be held at the Empress Hotel, April 20 and 21, Miss Dorothy Fraser, a former lieutenant of the First Chemainus Company, who is now living in Victoria, will be asked to represent Chemainus. It was decided to hold the postponed Guide and Brownie concert on May 18.

The Oyster Women's Institute held their regular meeting Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Ernest Peerless. The president, Mrs. Southin, was in the chair. It was decided to hold a community social in the South Oyster schoolhouse on April 27.

Eighteen members of the Anglican Women's Auxiliary met in the parish hall, when Miss Foster, Crofton, gave an interesting talk on Dorcas work. It was decided to hold a home-cooking stall and tea, April 20, in the parish hall. Mrs. Lang was appointed to do the altar vases and Mrs. Knight social service. Tea was served, Mrs. Knight and Mrs. Street being hostesses.

Under the patronage of the Tillicum Club, A. C. Stickley, passenger agent Northern Pacific Railway, gave an interesting lantern lecture in the picture home. The slides shown depicted the Yellowstone and National Parks and the Chicago exhibition.

Funeral services for the late Robert Syme were held Sunday from the home of his brother James. Service was conducted at the house by Rev Arthur Bischlager of Duncan. Interment took place in Chemainus cemetery, where a guard of honor of forty returned men awaited the cortege. The coffin was draped with the Union Jack, on which was laid a black laurel and poppy wreath. Members of the Elks Lodge were pallbearers.

Dick Halhed and Wilfred Watson are holidaying in Vancouver.

Mrs. Oscar Olsen, Tacoma, is visiting relatives here.

The Misses Enid and Coralie Fraser are visiting in Victoria.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick B. Holtum, accompanied by their son, Leslie, and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Gray, Victoria, were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Halhed.

Remains of Former Judge George A. Hutton Will Be Sent to Victoria

Associated Press

Santa Monica, Cal., April 20.—Completing the investigation into the death last Monday of former Superior Judge George H. Hutton, Coroner Frank Nance to-day signed the death certificate and said the man took poison either accidentally or with suicidal intent.

Hutton was believed to have died of heart disease, but there was no physician present at the death and an autopsy was ordered. It disclosed the presence of poison in the viscera and Santa Monica police were given the case for investigation. They said they learned Hutton had been despondent.

A funeral service was held yesterday in West Los Angeles and the body will be sent to the old home, Victoria, B.C., for burial.

Boston Red Sox Open Spoiling Campaign In American League

THE SPORTS MIRROR

MONTREAL sport fans have taken basketball to their hearts. The game enjoyed mediocre popularity in the eastern city in former years, but since the two Patrick brothers, Lynn and Murray, have led the Montreal Nationales to the eastern Canada championship and a place in the Canadian final against the western Canada champions, the Montrealers are taking the game seriously. And now they are talking about staging the national final in the big Montreal Forum, so as to provide seating capacity for the thousands the series will attract. And should the Nationales win the Canadian crown, as they have a good chance to do, it will be quite an honor for Lynn and Muzz, as they will have been on two successive Canadian championship clubs on opposite sides of the continent. When the Nationales eliminated Windsor Assumption College in the eastern semi-finals the two Patricks came in for much publicity from Montreal sports writers.

The following paragraphs are from The Montreal Star's story of the second game against Windsor, which was won by the Nationales 42 to 37, with Murray scoring thirteen points and Lynn eight:

"After last night's great victory, it seems quite definite that when Murray and Lynn Patrick came from the Coast last summer they brought the Dominion cage crown with them. They have made Nationales a powerful basketball team, for they were good enough to turn back the Ontario champions, considered the best team in the east up till last night.

"There are others on the Nationale quintette who perhaps played just as important roles in the victory as the Patrick boys. For instance, Johnny Schuler, whose wonderful defensive work held off the frantic Windsors near the finish. And the grand performance of the veteran Cliff Melville, who quit the scene only after taking four personals (meaning penalties), which amounts to something akin to a match penalty, to use the hockey term.

"It was a hard series to win, a tough one to lose, a task and a half for the referee. Captain Gordy Atchison had a complaint, but otherwise the Students took their defeat with good grace.

"The hardest-working man on the Windsors was Bill Rogin, No. 13. He was brave, wearing No. 13 on Friday, the 13th . . . which perhaps accounts for some very tough luck on shots in the last half.

"The second game brought out more of the hockey notables. Leo Dandurand faced the puck (pardon, tossed the first ball) to open hostilities. Imagine Leo's surprise when the ball dropped on his well-groomed head. Joe Cattarinich, Newsy Lalonde, Jimmy Strachan, Art Cayford, Ernie Garon and other familiar Forum figures voted it an excellent spectacle. They liked the speed.

"It was easily the most enthusiastic gathering for a basketball game here. The gym was jammed and standing room was taxed to the limit. An excellent attraction when Nationales meet the western Canada winners in series at Forum.

"Murray Patrick was the big scorer of the piece, but brother Lynn made many plays for him. They know each other's every move. Pat Griffin struck his stride at the right moment for that late rally."

The popularity of hockey in New York is well known. Gate receipts have gone up when receipts from other sports were falling away in the United States. Now O. O. McIntyre, one of the leading columnists in America, has the following to say about this great winter sport:

"Hockey appears to have captured the rugged enthusiasm of those sickened by the decadence of prize-fighting—at least in New York.

"The hockey player is designed for the feminine romantic build-up. (Chorus of 'Oh boy!' from Fat Rimstad, Nell Colville, Bill Carse, Morey Rimstad, et al).

"Not only is he the most expert of graceful skaters, but a daredevil of chance. Every minute on the ice he's in danger of serious accident, so fast and furious is the game.

"The routine is easily picked up at one sitting and this usually brings newcomers back.

"That more are not killed or dangerously banged up in the fierce bat-out-of-Hades dashes and whiplike finishes is due entirely to the players' skill in swerving, spread-eagling and turning on a dime space. As it is, there are not many intervals when someone is not carried out, feet up.

"General admission lineup outside, which forms early, is made up of truck drivers, preliminary fight boys, corner toughs and others who like their sporting fare bloody. In their high-up perches, they boo, jeer and throw things if there is any let-up in the furore of the slam-bang."

Metropolitan Courts Will Open Saturday

Official opening of the courts of the Metropolitan Tennis Club will take place to-morrow afternoon when it is expected that a large number of members will be on hand for the first play of the season.

Reporting on the membership of the club at its last meeting, Austin Curtis, a member of the executive, stated that the majority of last year's members would be with the club again this season. There are still a few vacancies for new members and those interested in joining the club are invited to attend Saturday's opening.

Defeat Champion Washington Club In Double Header

Tom Yawkey's Rebuilt Baseball Outfit Turns Back Senators 5 to 4 and 7 to 3

GIANTS CAPTURE THIRD STRAIGHT

By Hugh S. Fullerton
Associated Press Sports Writer

Boston Red Sox, picking Patriots' Day, a strictly Bostonian holiday, as their starting point, already have begun the process of paying dividends upon owner Tom Yawkey's big investment in them.

After dropping two tough decisions to Washington's Senators the Sox made it all up yesterday by trimming the 1933 league champions in both halves of the holiday doubleheader, 5 to 4 and 7 to 3. Julius Solters, the big right fielder from Baltimore, won the morning contest with a home run in the ninth after another pinch hit by "Sheriff" Dave Harris had tied the count for Washington in the seventh.

The afternoon contest saw 34,000 fans turn out, the largest crowd since the rebuilding process began, to see the Red Hose pound three young pitchers, Ray Prim, Mark Filley and Ed. Linke, for thirteen hits, including a homer by Bill Cissell.

The terrific clouting continued right down the American League line with the single exception of the Cleveland-St. Louis duel, and the Indians won that when Joe Vosmik clouted a 400-foot line-homer with one on in the eighth.

SOX WHIP DETROIT

Chicago's White Sox pounded out a 9 to 8 victory over Detroit Tigers, scoring their last two runs in the ninth. The New York Yankees outswatted the Philadelphia Athletics in a home-run duel, 10 to 4, as four-baggers by Bill Dickey and Tony Lazzeri proved more effective than a pair by Bob Johnson.

The world champion New York Giants played the theme song of the National League when they turned four hits off fidgety Phil Collins into a 2 to 0 victory over the Phillies. One of the blows was a first-inning homer by Manager Bill Terry, while an error led to the second tally. Meanwhile Bud Parmelee and Dolf Luque pitched five-hit ball, the former allowing only three safeties before wildness forced him out in the eighth.

Brooklyn and Boston provided one of the early-season oddities in a 1 to 1, seven-inning tie. A thick fog, which rolled in to obscure the outfield, forced the umpires to call the game.

Pat Malone's five-hit hurling plus some timely hitting against Paul Derringer, gave the Chicago Cubs their third straight triumph over Cincinnati, 4 to 1. The Pittsburgh Pirates refused to follow the rest of the league and piled up nineteen assorted hits to trim the St. Louis Cardinals, 14 to 4. They scored six times in the fifth to break up the ball game, knocking Bill Hallahan and Flint Rhem around.

INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE

Joe McCarthy, manager of the New York Yankees, released Vito Tamulis, young southpaw, to the Yankee farm at Newark yesterday and thereby gained an assist on Newark's first International League victory of the season.

Tambulis arrived in Ruppert Stadium in Newark just in time to take the pitcher's mound in a relief pole, check a ninth-inning uprising by Buffalo Bisons and hold on while the Bears finally won, 6 to 5, in the tenth.

Rain forced postponement of the balance of the schedule.

COAST LEAGUE

Portland's ninth-inning rally fell one run short and the San Francisco Missions gained their second victory of the series with a 6 to 5 win in the Rose City.

Al Moore, Mission outfielder, was hit on the head with a batted ball while running from first to second. The injury was not serious, it was revealed at a hospital.

Frank Gire, rookie third baseman, started out as the goat and finished the hero as the San Francisco Seals, at home, nosed out Sacramento, 5 to 4.

Gire erred in the sixth to let Beroja reach first and start a four-run Senator rally that tied the score. In the next inning Gire singled to score De Maggio with the winning San Francisco run.

SEATTLE VICTORS

The Seattle Indians came from behind before home fans to win their first game of the series from Hollywood, 8 to 7, and the first victory under the temporary managership of Walter "Dutch" Ruether, who Wednesday, replaced George Burns at the helm.

Seattle started out with a bang in the second hining, scoring five runs, and Hollywood accounted for two.

The high-riding Los Angeles Baseball Club, which has won thirteen of its sixteen contests, plunged into resounding defeat at home yesterday as Oakland battered a quartette of hurlers for fifteen hits and a 17 to 1 victory.

Roy Henshaw, southpaw obtained from Chicago, was driven to the showers in the third when the Oaks coupled four walks with three hits

U.S. Walker Cup Team Will Sail

New York, April 20.—Brimming with confidence, and with a game that is both longer and stronger than when he won the United States championship last year, Johnny Goodman, twenty-four-year-old Nebraskan, yesterday pronounced himself ready for his first invasion of foreign links.

Johnny sails to-morrow with eight other members of the American Walker Cup team to engage a British side in the eighth of a series of international golf competitions.

DETROIT TO USE RILEY

Rookie Member of Canadiens Will Perform in Vancouver Ice Series

Vancouver, April 20.—"Shovelshot" Jack Riley, the home-town boy who made good in major league hockey, is back in town for the summer and will play for Detroit Red Wings here to-morrow, Monday and Thursday against Toronto Maple Leafs, it was announced yesterday. He will be teamed with Sands and Thompson for the series. Jack has started working out at the arena in the mornings after a layoff of nearly a month.

Climaxing a successful season with Montreal Canadiens—his first year in major hockey—Riley placed fifth in team averages, mostly on assists. He piled up eighteen points—seventeen in the regular N.H.L. schedule and one in the playoffs against Chicago Black Hawks. He will be back with the Flying Frenchmen next year.

Jack, formerly of Calgary and Vancouver Ex-King Georges, rates as his biggest thrill of the season the game against New York Rangers, when he got his baptism in major league hockey. In that game he played centre in place of the veteran Howie Morenz, who was injured.

To make the story complete, the Habitants won the game 5 to 4, and the Vancouver "rook" came through with four assists. Aurel Joliat and Gagnon were his mates on that line, and Riley says Joliat is one of the greatest stickhandlers in the game.

"It was mighty satisfying to us to have Chicago win the Stanley Cup, as they were the team that eliminated us," commented the young Irishman.

Of the Detroit Red Wings, Jack claims the line of Weiland, Lewis and Aurie is as great as any in the National Hockey League, and is a terrifically hard back-checking combination. "How Detroit was overlooked by many as a playoff bet is still a puzzle to me," said Riley.

Despite a little difficulty understanding the rapid-fire French of his teammates, the Vancouver Celt says that you could not find a better bunch of fellows. Morenz, Sylvia Mantha and Burke helped him tremendously in making the grade. Never packing a bullet shot, Riley depends on assists to bolster his averages. He is a tricky play-maker and "feeder" to his wings. His nickname comes from a tricky scoop shot he uses at close quarters.

JUNIOR LEAGUE TO OPEN MAY 5

Ten Softball Clubs Expected to Compete This Season; Age Limit Discussed

Junior softball nines will swing into action on May 4, when the official opening matches of the Victoria Junior Softball League will be played, delegates attending a meeting of the league yesterday evening at the Y.M.C.A. decided on this as the opening date.

Nine teams were represented at yesterday evening's meeting and all of the delegates reported their squads ready to get into action. Officials of the loop are anxious to have an even number of clubs competing, and any team wishing to take up the vacant franchise is asked to communicate with L. Clarke, by phoning G 3565.

Ernie Stock of the Lower Island Association, attended the meeting and reported on the new ruling made regarding the age limit. Considerable discussion took place on this matter and it was decided to hold a meeting on Wednesday, April 25, at the Y.M.C.A. at 7.30 o'clock to make a final ruling in this connection.

Teams attending yesterday evening's meeting follow: Adams' Grocery, Turner; Goodwin's Grocery, Johnson; Daily Colonist, P. Sands; Jameson Electric, McCadden; Foul Bay Burnetts, Passmore; Victoria West Liberals, Mummery; Fernwood Merchants, Yout; Cyclettes, Vivian. Albert Marr represented the Chinese Students, and stated that they would probably have a team in the loop.

Mrs. Moody Hopes For U.S. Victory

Many Times U.S. and Wimbledon Tennis Champion Refuses to Make Prediction on Outcome of Wightman Cup Matches With British; May Return This Season

San Francisco, April 20—Keenly regretful she must forego competition in the Wightman Cup tennis matches this year, Mrs. Helen Wills Moody expressed hope yesterday her sisters of the courts would win the international classic for this country once more.

The many times national champion and oldest competitor in point of service in the Wightman Cup play, declined to commit herself on the possible outcome of the matches.

"There will be several new girls on our team and as I do not know who will play on the British team, it would be rather difficult to try to make a prediction," she said.

"It has been my experience that one playing on the English courts for the first time does not play his or her best game. Playing conditions are a bit different than to what we are accustomed here, naturally a newcomer will show some nervousness. I do hope our girls will win.

"I feel badly over not being able to compete this year but the injury to my back still pains me and there was nothing to do but decline."

Mrs. Moody, who played on the first Wightman Cup team in 1923 and in nine of the eleven international tests, said she had not given up hopes of entering tournament competition later in the summer. Her physical condition is greatly improved but until the ache in her back has completely disappeared she will give no thought to tennis.

FENCING TEAMS MEET SATURDAY

Shawnigan Lake to Battle Crystal Garden Club in Return Match

Shawnigan Lake's smart fencing team will visit the city Saturday to do battle with members of the Crystal Garden Club in a return match scheduled to start at 7 o'clock. In the first fixture, at the up-island centre Shawnigan Lake representatives showed an impressive victory.

In hopes of reviving interest in fencing, which has been somewhat neglected in this city for a number of years, Victoria has decided to affiliate with the Amateur Athletic Union. The club here is the only one west of Winnipeg.

Snowshoeing Aided Komonen

Canadian Victor in Boston Marathon Attributes Success to Winter Training

Boston, April 20.—The Finns are supposed to know all of the secrets about long-distance running but Dave Komonen, thirty-five-year-old mine carpenter, had to immigrate to Canada to learn how to win the famous Boston A.A. marathon.

This wiry runner, who has been residing in Toronto and Sudbury, Ont., for five years, which, for him, is too short a time to master the English language, believes snowshoeing gave him the stamina needed to lead yesterday's crack field of 193 over the twenty-six miles, 385 yards of hills and lane that stretch from a Hopkington Farm to the B.A.A.'s clubhouse in the Back Bay.

"I trained for this race on snowshoes," he said through an interpreter, "running fifteen and twenty miles a day. When you take them off and run on bare ground, your feet feel like feathers. Foot running is much easier than snowshoeing.

"Last year, when I finished second to Leslie Pawson, I said I would win the next race and I did. I am going down again next year and break Pawson's record."

Todd Cup Final Is Won By Miss Benson

JOKERS WILL MEET DUNCAN

Local Soccer Eleven to Play Davis Cup Fixture Up-island Sunday

Jokers' junior soccer eleven, local Davis Cup representatives, will journey to Duncan on Sunday to meet Duncan United in the semi-final round of the Davis Cup series. The kick-off is set for 3 o'clock with Ralph Alcock as referee.

Determined to gain revenge for the defeat they sustained at the hands of Duncan United in the O. B. Allan Cup play-downs, Jokers will take their strongest available squad for this important fixture.

In the only junior football match carded to-morrow, North Saanich will journey to James Island to meet the Islanders in a Combination Cup fixture at 3 o'clock.

London, April 20.—Hull Kingston defeated Castlefords, 17 to 7, in a rugby league fixture played under floodlights to-night.

Two Cup Football Matches To-morrow

Victoria West to Battle Victoria City in Province Cup Fixture at 2.30; Second Division Clubs in Combination Trophy Game

All soccer roads will lead to the Athletic Park to-morrow afternoon where the only football games scheduled in the city will be played. The menu, another double-header affair, looks indeed appetizing and should tickle the football palates of the hundreds of fans who will make their way to the enclosure. As an opening attraction, Victoria City and Victoria West will battle in a Province Cup fixture, with the kick-off at 2.30 o'clock. The final act of the twin matinee presentation will see Victoria West and the Saanich Thistles, second division elevens, meeting in the replay of a Combination Cup match. This game is billed to start at 4 o'clock. Overtime will be played in each match if necessary.

Victoria West will present a somewhat changed line-up when they take the field against Victoria City in the first match. Art Griffiths, a youngster who has turned in a number of splendid exhibitions as a goalie for different clubs in the city, will be between the sticks for the greenshirts, replacing Alf Hood, while Jimmy Patterson, a member of the Wests second division squad, will perform at the left wing position.

YOUSON AT CENTRE

Switched from the outside line to the centre-forward position will be Harry Youson, speedy greenshirt forward, who is occupying the position formerly held by Ernie Betteridge. The latter player made his last appearance of the season against Kerrisdale, and has since left the city.

Tommy Musgrave will start on the right flank, with Terry Peers as his inside man. Scotty Robinson will patrol the inside left lane, and will be flanked by Patterson.

The backs, O'Kell and Dutch Thompson, and the halfback line of Storey, Barnes and Stewart, remains intact.

Victoria City will field their usual lineup in hopes of turning back the bid of a revamped greenshirts' eleven.

The winner of the Wests-City match will meet the Saanich Thistles who reached the final bracket of the local Province Cup series by an impressive 2 to 1 victory over Esquimalt.

Local fans will see at least one of The Province Cup proper games here with the local finalist drawn against the winner of the Nanaimo-St Saviours preliminary fixture.

SECOND GAME

The second game on to-morrow's programme, the Combination Cup fixture between Victoria West and the Saanich Thistles, second division elevens, should produce keen competition. The clubs are evenly balanced and at the conclusion of the first half of the schedule finished deadlock in first berth.

To-morrow's teams follow:

Victoria West, first division—Griffiths, O'Kell, Thompson, Storey, Barnes, Stewart, Musgrave, Peers, Youson, Robinson, Patterson, Browning, Spavin, Dodds and Hood.

Victoria West, second division—Stewartson, J. Painter, A. Purss, A. Reside, H. Thomson, H. Cockin, J. Lambie, R. Touthill, J. Price, C. Collins, H. Hynes, J. Patterson, A. Geoghegan and G. Purss.

Victoria City—Chalmers, Moody, R. Murray, Smith, McGee, McBay, A. Murray, Sage, Gibson, Holness, McMillan, A. McKinnon, A. Carr and D. Robertson. Players fill meet at the Veterans of France at 1.30 o'clock.

Play will be halted at 1 o'clock for lunch, following which friendly matches will be played. Tea will be served in the afternoon.

Championship trophies, to be competed for during the season, will be on display during the day.

Harold Larwood Gets Into Shape

London, April 20.—Harold Larwood, the fast bowler who is being counted on for the coming battles with the touring Australian cricketers, had a workout yesterday and reported his injured foot was coming along satisfactorily.

Larwood bowled medium-pace at Trent Bridge for fifteen minutes, taking six paces instead of his usual nineteen. He wore special boots with a rubber lining and said afterwards: "I am now absolutely confident I will be right again. I shall gradually increase to top speed."

Barney Ross To Start Training

Chicago, April 20.—Barney Ross, lightweight champion of the world, left for Loretta, Wis., where he will start training for his effort to lift Jimmy McLarnin's welterweight title in New York on May 28.

Ross has almost recovered from an ear ailment, and plans to spend two weeks in Wisconsin doing roadwork and the convention tree-chopping. He will reach New York about two weeks before the fifteen-round battle with the welterweight titleholder.

RAINVILLE IN SEMI-FINAL

Canadian Davis Cup Ten Star Advances in Mason and Dixon Tournament

White Sulphur Springs, W.Va., April 20.—Withdrawal of Wilmer Allison, No. 2 ranking star from Austin, Texas, from singles competition, had all but assured a final round meeting between Frank Shields and either Marcel Rainville, Montreal, or Lester Stoefen in the fourteenth annual Mason and Dixon tennis tournament to-day.

Allison suffered a back injury in Pinehurst a week ago, and defaulted yesterday.

Shields, easy winner over J. Albert Hall, South Orange, N.J., in the quarter-finals, 6-1, 11-9, was pitted against Rainville, the Canadian Davis Cup star in the semi-finals to-day.

Stoefen, who blasted William Wright, former national court tennis champion from Philadelphia, with a 6-1, 6-2 defeat, was to battle either Bryan M. Grant, Atlanta, or Berkeley Bell, New York.

Rainville eliminated Charles Hare, Pittsburgh, yesterday with much trouble, 6-0, 7-5, and Grant held a big advantage over Bell when rain forced postponement of the remainder of the match. The little Atlantan had won the first set, 6-1, and was leading, 3-2 in the second, when time was called.

HUEU EQUALS TRACK RECORD

Covers Six Furlongs in 1.12 2-5 to Capture Handicap at Tanforan Track

San Bruno, Calif., April 20.—Hueu, Hawaiian-bred brown gelding by Rogers out of Pukala, showed a set of fleet hoofs to the rivals, yesterday, to run off with the California Sportsman Handicap, six furlongs feature race at Tanforan track.

The winner equaled the record of 1.11 2-5, remarkable because of the slow condition of the strip, and hit the wire a length and a half ahead of the favorite, Frisky Matron.

Frisky Matron, who set the record last year, packing 105 pounds, carried 126 pounds, yesterday, to 110 pounds for Hueu. Prince Heather, with Howard Grayson at 102 pounds aboard, ran third.

The winner paid $7.20. No place show tickets were sold.

Komonen Broke Old Adage In Winning

Captured Grueling Boston Marathon Yesterday on Third Attempt; Canadian Won By Four-minute Margin Over Johnny Kelly, Medford; Wyer Is Eighth

Boston, April 20.—The old adage that the third time never fails stood up again yesterday when Dave Komonen, thirty-five-year-old Finn, Sudbury, Ont., who holds both the United States and Canadian Marathon titles, made the thirty-eighth running of the famous Boston A.A. "grind" a three-man race and led young Johnny Kelly, Meford, to the finish line with almost four minutes to spare.

Komonen, a resident of Canada for five years, was second last year when Leslie Pawson, Pawtucket, R.I., broke the record for the twenty-six miles 385 yards that stretch uphill and down dale from Hopkinton to the front door of the B.A.A.'s clubhouse in Back Bay. In 1931, when the victorious Finn, employed as a mine carpenter in Sudbury, made his first B.A.A. start, he placed seventh.

His return to Finland where he made an unsuccessful bid for a marathoner's place on the Olympic team of his native land, forced him to miss the 1932 Boston race.

SAW TWO BACKS

Although 192 others, including the outstanding long distance stars of the United States and Canada, started with him yesterday, Komonen saw but two backs, those of Kelley and Bill Steiner, crack New Yorker, in the 2 hours 32 minutes 53 4-5 seconds he was on the road.

Steiner sprinted into the lead at the start, with Komonen and Kelly at his heels. They let Steiner set the pace for fifteen miles, never more than fifty yards ahead, before overtaking him at Wellesley Hill. Komonen and Kelly continued side-by-side for six more miles, before the Finn decided to step out in front, which he did without great exertion, for his companion, one of the best twenty-milers hereabouts, was tiring fast.

About five miles from home, going downhill, Komonen put on terrific pressure and pulled ahead with every stride. Kelly then decided to play safe for second place, which he gained by finishing in 2.36.50 2-5, almost four minutes faster than Steiner, who placed third in 2.40.29 1-5.

Alex Burnside, Toronto, never a serious contender, finished fourth in 2.44.32, and another persistent Finn, Willie Koski, New York, was fifth in 2.44.52. The others in the first ten were Gordon Norman, Beverly; Bill McMahon, Pawtucket, R.I.; Percy Wyer, Toronto; Dave Fagerlund, New York, and Bill Molloy, Medford.

CHECKER TOURNEY

Seattle, April 20.—A mass western Washington checker team to-day held a 218 to 100 decision over an eastern Washington team. The high scorer was L. J. Cantrell, state and Seattle champion, who won fifteen of eighteen games and drew one for thirty-one points for the western team.

U.S. and Foreign Stars Will Compete in Fifteen Outdoor Tourneys This Summer

New York, April 20.—Encouraged by the large and profitable turnout of fans for indoor matches, the U.S. Professional Lawn Tennis Association announced yesterday an outdoor schedule of fourteen sectional championships to be played this summer in eleven states, winding up with a national tournament in New York.

Among the foreign stars slated to compete will be Henri Cochet, Martin Plaa, Karel Kozeluh and Hana Nusslein. Arrayed against these invaders will be Bill Tilden, Ellsworth Vines, Bruce Barnes, Vincent Richards, the defending champion, and a number of other ranking U.S. professionals.

The schedule begins May 19 at New York, where the eastern championships will be played through May 26. The tour will end August 18 with the national championship to be played at a club in the New York area not yet designated.

The balance of the title schedule includes eastern and middle western points.

JACK LEAGUE DEFEATS THYE

Takes Two Out of Three Falls in Main Event of Vancouver Wrestling Card

Vancouver, April 20. — Jack League, Texas, 210, took the main event of a wrestling card here yesterday evening when he earned two out of three falls from Ted Thye, Portland, 198. The Portlander took the first fall with a series of shoulder butts and a body press in the third round. In the fifth round, however, League made it even with a flying tackle and body press, and won the match in the sixth round when he downed Thye with a body press.

The semi-final saw Howard Cantonwine, Iowa, 222, and Jack Forsgren, Vancouver, 218, go three fast rounds to a no fall draw.

SKI STARS TO RACE SUNDAY

Seattle, April 20.—The entry list for the "silver skis" five-mile championship race down the snow-covered slopes of Mount Rainier on Sunday, in which the racers will drop from a 10,000-foot elevation to 5,500 feet in Paradise Valley, reached fifty-two yesterday.

The three latest entries were: Hamisch Davidson, Slalom and downhill racer of the Vancouver, B.C., Winter Sports Club, and Jack Taylor and K. Hauge, his teammates. Viktor Kutschera, ace of the ski runners of the Canadian Rockies, Banff, Alta., and Hans Grage, Seattle, who won the McClure Rock to Paradise Valley race two weeks ago, are among the Pacific Northwest stars entered.

The race will be run for the first time this year.

Scottish Cup At Stake To-morrow

Glasgow Rangers and St. Mirren Meet For Coveted Soccer Trophy; Former Favored to Win; Important English and Scottish League Matches

Glasgow, April 20. — Glasgow Rangers and St. Mirren meet in the final for the Scottish Football Association Cup, to-morrow, and unless a surprising upset occurs, the Rangers will find themselves in possession of the historic trophy, as well as having a stranglehold on the league championship.

Cup soccer and league soccer are traditionally two different things, but even so, St. Mirren's record is nothing to inspire doubt in the hearts of the Ranger supporters.

All the odds will be on Rangers to win the cup for the eighth time. St. Mirren have taken it once, eight years ago.

Meantime the league gets back to business. Motherwell are three points back of the league-leading Rangers, but Motherwell have only two games left, while Rangers have three to play. Rangers need only one more victory to clinch the championship for the second time in succession.

RELEGATION FIGHT

The relegation from the first division and promotion from the second division has yet to be settled. Cowdenbeath are going down without any doubt, but Airdrieonians, Third Lanark and Hibernians are all in danger of going down with them, the two former being tied a game below the Hibs. To-morrow's matches will go a long way towards settling the trouble, for Airdrie takes on Cowdenbeath and should pick up points, while Third Lanark meets the Hibernians.

In the second division the schedule ends to-morrow. Dunfermline are a game ahead of Arbroath and Stenhousemuir, but Arbroath has a game in and, so that even to-morrow the teams to go up could not be decided London, April 20.—Arsenal's defeat in the week has given Huddersfield Town fresh hopes of overtaking the Gunners and capturing the English Football League championship.

But is doubtful whether Huddersfield can catch up, even though they have four games left to play, while Arsenal has only three more. The Gunners hold a two-game lead and to-morrow entertain Sunderland, while Huddersfield travel to Middlesbrough.

With only three games left for the majority of teams and an upset in the championship, nothing more than a mathematical possibility, interest continues centred on the question of promotion and relegation.

IMPORTANT MATCH

Newcastle United can resign themselves to accompany Sheffield United to the second division if they don't beat the Wolves to-morrow, and if Newcastle win and Birmingham are beaten by the Spurs, then Birmingham takes their place alongside Sheffield.

Arsenal dissatisfied with their attack at Portsmouth on Monday when they lost, 1 to 0, in a battle of defences, will probably reintroduce Hulme and Jack, for the match with Sunderland.

Chelsea, who are just about safe from relegation, cannot find a place for Jackson or Gallacher, who played on the Scottish international side last week, despite the brilliance of these two players at Wembley, and directors think it unwise to change their present league eleven, at least until they are definitely out of the woods. Chelsea meets Manchester City, cup finalists.

Grimsby Town is a certainty to come from the second division to the first, but the question of which team accompanies them remains as tough as ever. Bolton and Brentford are deadlocked and Preston North End is only a point behind, each having three games left.

The same goes for relegation to the third division. Lincoln City cannot escape, but Swansea, Manchester United, Millwall and Notts County are all struggling to avoid accompanying them.

Leicester City Defeats Derby

Leicester, Eng., April 20.—Leicester City defeated Derby County 2 to 0 in a first division English Football League encounter yesterday.

OUR MAIL BAG

INTERCITY FOOTBALL

To the Sports Editor:—In replying to "Pat's" letter which appeared in The Times on Thursday evening, I agree with him in regards to his remarks about putting energy into a game, but not to such an extent that players will be injured. The Victoria United team cannot expect to have a good forward line if the officials keep changing the players around. The reason I blamed the referee for the trouble in last Saturday's game was that he should have cautioned the players of both teams and should not have engaged in an argument with them. He failed to show a firm hand.

Regarding the Connaught Cup team. The selectors have four local clubs to select from and should be able to pick one good team from the lot. It would be a good idea to field an all-star team against Victoria United and make the players fight for their positions. In my opinion the following team could take Victoria United in camp: Goal, Wally Rowe; fullbacks, Joe Watt and Ivan Sweeney; halfbacks, Terry Peers, Joe Crowe and Tommy Smith; forwards, Eddie Viggers, Storey, Danny Glancy, Edgar Borde and Harry Holness. Substitutes, March, Sage, Okell and Youson.

Abie Israel And McLeod in Draw

Tacoma, Wash., April 20.—Abie Israle, 130½, Seattle, holder of the Washington state featherweight championship, and Jimmy McLeod, 132, Tacoma, battled eight furiously fought rounds to a draw decision here yesterday evening.

In the other eight rounder, Johnny Lamar, 142½, Los Angeles Mexican, won the decision from Ernie Cavelli, 144, Walla Walla. Cavelli was the aggressor, but ran into rights that floored him once in the second round and three times in the sixth.

The Gorge Vale team will include Miss Peggy Allen, Mrs. H. H. Allen, Mrs. H. P. Hodges, Miss E. V. Wiley, Mrs. H. B. Jackson, Miss Dorothy Chennells and Miss Freda Rippingale.

Wrestler Throws Pair of Opponents

Washington, April 20.—Carrying out a promise to throw two opponents within forty-five minutes, Hans Steinke, 242-pound German, accomplished the feat yesterday evening in twenty-four and half minutes. He threw Jack MacArthur, 235, California, in twelve and half minutes, and Leo Bacigalupi, 230, New York, in twelve minutes. He had no resting period between bouts.

Wheat Prices Close Higher At Winnipeg

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, April 20.—Export interests took fairly substantial quantities of wheat on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange to-day with resultant steadiness in futures quotations. Values at the close were ⅞ to 1⅛ cent higher.

May wheat wound up at 64⅝, July at 65⅝, and October at 61⅛ cents.

Foreign sales of Canadian wheat were estimated between 500,000 and 750,000 bushels, and this buping steadied the market.

Strength at Chicago was a further encouraging factor. Pressure of Argentine wheat from re-sellers pushed Liverpool price down to close ⅜ to ½d lower.

Only minor quantities of cash grains changed hands, while steadiness in what prevailed in the coarse grains market.

Canadian Press

Chicago, April 20.—With a conference scheduled for to-morrow between President Roosevelt and Senate advocates of silver legislation wheat prices showed advances during late transactions to-day.

Wheat closed unsettled, ⅝ to 1 cent higher; corn, ⅞ to 1⅜ advanced; oats, ⅝ to 1⅛ up, and provisions varying from 2 cents decline to a rise of 12 cents.

Northern Fliers Return South

Word Received at Edmonton From Pilot M. Berry, Unreported Two Weeks

Edmonton, April 20.—Unreported in the Arctic for over two weeks, Pilot Matt Berry of the Mackenzie Air Services yesterday reached Coppermine, N.W.T., and to-day was speeding towards Edmonton.

Reason for the delay Berry experienced since he left Coppermine on a flight to Cambridge Bay, 300 miles east along the Arctic Coast, was not given in a brief message received here by the flying company offices. The report merely stated Stanley McMillan, who left Coppermine in search of Berry yesterday, had returned to the post along with the man he sought and that the pair had left for Edmonton at dawn to-day. They were bringing with them William Gibson, superintendent of the western Arctic division of the Hudson's Bay Company.

It was considered likely they would land at either Fort Chipewyan or Willow Lake, near McMurray, to change their machines from skis to wheels and would hop off immediately for Edmonton, possibly arriving here late to-day.

DOLLAR $1.00 1-2 ON EXCHANGE

Canadian Press

New York, April 20.—Canadian and British and gold standard currencies recorded substantial advances on the foreign exchange market here to-day.

The Canadian dollar extended its premium over the United States dollar from ¾ to ½ of a cent, the highest rate in several months.

The pound sterling jumped 2⅝ cents to a closing rate of $5.17¼.

The French franc at 6.65¾ gained .03¼ of a cent.

LONDON MARKET

London, April 20.—The approaching settlement day and continental news were responsible for dullness on the stock exchange to-day and a general setback in prices. German bonds were particularly weak, but British funds and some gold mining shares rallied in the afternoon. The market, however, closed dull.

Shooting In Madrid To-day

Several Persons Wounded When Factions Fire; Police End Disorders

Associated Press

Madrid, April 20.—Shooting broke out in the heart of this city to-day as youths of the Syndicalist and Socialist parties attacked Young Popular Actionists preparing for a political meeting.

The shooting started shortly after a fight on the floor of the Chamber of Deputies, in the course of a debate on amnesty for political prisoners.

The bill granting amnesty was approved, despite the pitched battle, by a vote of 265 to 45.

The firing began on Alcala Street, across from the Catholic newspaper El Debate and the popular Agarian Action headquarters.

The shooting continued for some time and several persons were wounded.

FACTIONS IN PARIS FIGHT

Associated Press

Paris, April 20.—Communists and Socialists clashed with police near the city hall here to-day in demonstrations against the "Fascist" pay cuts—the government economy measures. Several hundred demonstrators were arrested.

Police blocked off the great square so effectively the demonstrators were unable to pierce their lines.

CALGARY LIVESTOCK

Calgary, April 20 (Canadian Press)—Receipts: Twenty-seven cattle, three calves, 524 hogs and 314 lambs. The bulk of to-day's receipts were on through billing. The left overs are being cleaned up at steady prices for quality offered. The hog market was steady, selects $8.00, bacons $7.50 and butchers $7.00 off trucks.

Cattle: Good butcher steers, $4.00 to $4.25; common to medium steers, $1.75 to $3.75. Medium to good fed calves, $3.75 to $4.25; good veal calves, $5.00; common vealers, $2.75 to $3.00. Common stocker steers, $2.00 to $2.50.

BAR GOLD

London, April 20.—Bar gold declined ½d to 135s 2½d. (U.S. equivalent $34.78, on basis of sterling opening at $5.14½.)

OILS LOWER AT TORONTO

Canadian Press

Toronto, April 20.—Trading in food and utility shares broadened out to-day and losses and gains were evenly divided on the industrial section of the Toronto Stock Exchange.

Narrow losses predominated in the oils. Supertest ordinary weakened ¾ and British American, Imperial, International Pete and McColl all dropped ⅛.

As tradings in the new shares of Canadian Industrial Alcohol began the preferred closed at 16½ and the new common at 12½. The old "A" dropped ½ to 14¾.

Distillers Seagram gained ⅝ to 20⅞ and Brewers and Distillers lost 5 cents. Walkers finished 1½ higher.

TORONTO MINING CLOSES STRONG

Canadian Press

Toronto, April 20.—Narrow adjustments, mainly upward, marked the mining section of the Toronto Stock Exchange to-day. Urgent selling that prevailed Thursday following announcement of a tax on gold sales was missing, and trading was sluggish at times, but active in the last hour.

Buying of the shares of the gold producers improved and the whole group closed strong. Lake Shore, McIntyre, Bralorne and Pioneer were up 50 to 75 cents, and Teck and Hargreaves 5 to 10 cents each. Dome closed up 25, up 38.25, and Hollinger unchanged.

Moderately higher prices were registered for Hudson Bay, Falconbridge, Base Metals Corporation, Sherritt and Sudbury Basin. Eldorado jumped 25, Mining Corporation 8, Nipissing 10 and Premier 3.

Chemical research closed 20, lower at 2.35.

SLIGHT MARGIN HELD BY GAINS

Canadian Press

Montreal, April 20.—Irregularity prevailed in to-day's trading on the Montreal Stock Exchange with gains holding a slight margin at the close. Movements were held to narrow bounds.

BONDS LOWER AT NEW YORK

Canadian Press

New York, April 20.—The decline in dollar exchange was accompanied by a sag in U.S. Government securities quotations to day. Losses were mostly in the minor fractions for the treasury listings and offerings were only moderate.

Corporation loans had a fairly firm appearance in contrast with the drooping governments, although there were a few small declines among prime issues. Chesapeake and Ohio 4½s, Bethlehem Steel 5s, Armour 4½s, and Northern Pacific 4s eased. Loans with a speculative tinge were inclined to advance with the late improvement in stocks.

Prescriptions Are Forged

In Vancouver Man Pleads Guilty to Using Illegal Narcotic Order

Canadian Press

Vancouver, April 20.—Endeavoring to trace down the source of a number of forged prescriptions for narcotics, which had been presented to city drug stores, Royal Canadian Mounted Police and city detectives arrested John Kilkelly and Mickey McPherson on charges of dealing in forged documents.

Kilkelly pleaded guilty to-day to negotiating a forged prescription, which bore the forged signature of a well-known city physician, in a city drug store on March 31. He was remanded till April 23 for sentence. McPherson was remanded till April 27 for trial, his bail being set at $2,000.

Further search is being made by detectives for others using the forged prescriptions and a check of drug stores is being made in an effort to locate more of the forged documents.

PEOPLE ROUSED AS FIRE SPREADS

Man Rushes Through Apartments in Calgary and Tenants Get Out

Canadian Press

Calgary, April 20. — An unknown man, who climbed through a first-story window, after he had been given a hoist to an awning by a companion, dashed through smoke-filled corridors of a downtown apartment block here early to-day, warning residents.

Firemen were called by the unknown's companion, and they assisted a score of men, women and children to safety through dense clouds of smoke. They were residents of the Rex Rooms Apartment on Eighth Avenue, the main floor of the building being occupied by several places of business. Actual fire

THE Lone Wolf's Son

By Louis Joseph Vance

"I ask madame, is it fair to make me responsible in this fashion for a king's ransom in an unsealed paper parcel? I am a poor man; were even one of those magnificent stones to be lost I would be ruined."

"You have reason, monsieur." Fay Crozier with admirable presence of mind relieved the man of his cares, with never so much as a quaver to betray to him the drama of the moment. "I promise you, the very first chance I get, I shall speak to the person who treated these so cavalierly. When they come into your hands again, you may be sure, they will be properly done up and sealed. M. Lanyard, I know, will be good enough to see to that for me, and take your receipt. And many, many thanks, monsieur!"

"Madame is most gracious."

With the permission which his captain's nod gave, the purser saluted the company and withdrew.

"Madame is not serious?"

Lanyard's query, interjected into the ensuing lull, carried a nicely calculated accent of light incredulity mixed with appreciation.

But Fay Crozier, ignoring alike the crestfallen captain and the disgusted Plon, persisted.

"What do you think?" Her fine white head had a spirited fling. "When I tell the world I trust a person, I mean it."

"But how can I obey madame when I am under arrest?"

"Oh, as to that!" the captain jerked out of his mortification. "I am sure M. Lanyard is fair-minded enough to make allowances for one who saw his ship threatened with a major scandal. I beg you to accept my apologies—and you, madame, as well."

"Think no more about it," Lanyard returned. "It is forgotten. Even the vindictiveness of M. Plon is too much in character, the inevitable result of thinking all his life like a policeman. But as for these emeralds, while I appreciate the honor that is offered me—frankly, Mme. Crozier, I can accept only on condition that you sit by while I seal the package and then accompany me to see it placed in the purser's safe."

CHAPTER XIV

Lanyard waited till alone with the lady to show her a frankly perturbed countenance.

"That's all very well, madame. But I'd wager my head it wasn't the same thief. And I am certain there were not two shagreen cases. Neither have I any more idea how the zircons came to be in my trunk than I have of how the emeralds found their way to the purser's hands—or why you, madame, should tell fibs to spare me!"

"My dear friend!" Fay Crozier laughed, abandoning the beautiful language of France for the homelier idiom she had been born to. "When will you get it through your head that I think you're a swell person? A grand actor, too; anyhow, for dubs like that bearded infant of a captain and swine like that Plon. I could see, though, what I'm sure they couldn't, that you were plumb flabbergasted when it turned out those wretched zircons had ben planted on you. And if you think I'd ever make things worse for you when a fat red lie would make them easier, you just don't know Fay Crozier."

"I don't, at all events, know how to thank you."

"Just let me catch you trying—any way, I mean, except by letting me help you, if I can, figure out who your enemy is."

Lanyard started and repeated, "My enemy!" in a low key, as if the thought were not only novel to him but to a degree painful.

"You don't imagine, do you, it was any friend of yours that held me up and did his best to fix it so you would be suspected!"

"You think that?" the same troubled voice replied.

"I can't see what else anybody could think, when he followed up the robbery by sneaking those imitations into your trunk."

"If he—if the thief did!"

"Who else could have? My dear man, what are you thinking of? You gave the zircons back to him last night, didn't you? Well then! What possible doubt can there be as to who saddled you with them to-day?"

"It is not his identity that perplexes me," Lanyard worried, "but his motive."

"What other motive could he have had than to incriminate you?"

"Be patient with me, madame. Figure to yourself that I find it so difficult to credit him with this second theft, I even question whether he knew anything about it."

"I don't get it." The head which Fay Crozier had bowed over the shagreen case, to which she was transferring the Habsburg emeralds, was so vigorously shaken that its docked locks fluffed out like a snowy nimbus. "Unless you mean you don't want to believe in circumstantial evidence black enough to damn an angel."

"You have reason, madame," Lanyard ruefully admitted. "I do not wish to believe—yes, that is true."

"But why? For goodness' sake! Is this crook some dear friend of yours?"

Fay's lively eyes said she spoke in jest; but the jest had cut too near to the knuckle for comfort. Next thing he knew the woman would be worming the truth out of him.

"Let us say, rather, it passes understanding that the fellow should invite denunciation by repeating his offence in a fashion more heinous, and identifying himself in my sight as the offender by this nonsense with the zircons. That, madame was never the act of a man in his senses."

"That I grant you."

For all of the quizzical line which Fay Crozier was taking, the lightly skeptical bias of her attention, Lanyard at this stage began to feel better. The mystery was no less mysterious, but he had at least succeeded in satisfying himself that Maurice—those infernal zircons to the contrary notwithstanding— had not had anything to do with this latest brigandage or its quite insane sequel. Headstrong the boy might be and wedded to the error of his ways, but when all was said, the son of the Lone Wolf was not a simpleton; he could never have won his own consent to conduct so asinine.

"Who, then?"

Lanyard was teased by inklings of the answer, but Fay Crozier would not give him time to follow them up.

"But neither was it rational to steal my jewels and then return them to me through the purser, all within an hour!"

"I well believe you."

A silver-throated call to luncheon was singing through the vessel, and Lanyard seized on the excuse to end a conversation that was making him more and more uncomfortable.

"But—now you make me think of it, madame—you have yet to seal up the emeralds in my presence, as you promised to, and turn them in for safe keeping. And I happen to have asked a young friend to lunch with me."

"What a clever creature you are!" Fay Crozier crossed to place on the table before him the shagreen case, then fetched from the escritoire an envelope and sealing wax and matches. "You do it for me, please. Then you'll be sure the job is properly done." Standing over the man with a provoking smile, she returned to her personalities. "You do know how to put an inquisitive woman off, don't you?"

"Ah, madame!" Lanyard deprecated, busying himself with the parcel. "I would think well of myself indeed if I thought that."

"Stuff and nonsense! You know very well you're keeping something from me."

"I have a feeling that you flatter me."

Fenno chose this moment to make an entrance to the sitting-room as inopportune, to Lanyard's way of thinking, as it was spirited.

"Ready, Fay dear? I'm simply famished. Why, M. Lanyard! And it isn't a minute since I told that nice boy of yours that you had been called into a conference with the captain. He was still looking for you all over—said you had sent him word you were expecting him for luncheon. Don't look so pop-eyed, mother: the nice boy I'm talking about is M. Lanyard's son. Surely he must have told you—"

Uncle Wiggily and the Hole

By HOWARD R. GARIS

The Pipsisewah and his Bad Chap friend, the Skeezicks, were dressing themselves up to look like tramps.

"How is this?" asked the Pip, as he stuck an old hat on the side of his funny head. "Do I seem like a tramp?"

"Very much so," answered the Skee. "But you aren't quite ragged enough for a regular tramp. Better tear a few more holes in your coat. It will look more natural."

"I'll do that. And I think you could stand a few more holes in your pants," said the Pip.

"Very likely," agreed the Skee. "I hope I don't catch cold, though," he said as he slashed some more holes in his ragged clothes.

At last the two Bad Chaps felt that they looked enough like tramps to fool Uncle Wiggily, so they started for his place. As you know, Uncle Wiggily had begun to make a flower bed in his back yard, but his rheumatism hurt him so that he couldn't dig very well.

The Pipsisewah and the Skeezicks knew about this. So they planned to dress up like tramps, go to the rabbit gentleman and offer to dig his garden for him, and at the same time play a trick. The trick was they were going to dig a deep hole instead of making a flower bed and push Uncle Wiggily into the hole to catch him.

While the Pip and Skee were on their way to make trouble for the rabbit gentleman, Uncle Wiggily himself was painfully sitting on a box near where he had started to make his flower bed.

"Oh, dear!" he sighed. "I wish I didn't have this rheumatism. I don't see how I am going to make this flower bed."

Just then along came the Pip and Skee.

"There he sits!" whispered the Pip to his chum.

"Just waiting for us!" chuckled the Skee. "Shall I ask him if he wants two tramps to finish that flower bed or will you speak?"

"You do it," said the Pip.

The Skeezicks, pulling his old ragged hat down over his face so Uncle Wiggily wouldn't know him, spoke up and said:

"Hey, there, Mr. Rabbit, do you want us to do that for you?"

"Do what?" asked Uncle Wiggily, looking up in surprise, for he had been thinking about his rheumatism.

"Do you want us to finish making that flower bed," asked the Pip, who also had his hat well down over his face. "We are a couple of tramps looking for work and we'll do the job cheap."

"Say!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily, "that's a good idea. I need this flower bed made, but I am too lame to dig. Go ahead, you chaps. I will pay you well."

The Pip had brought a shovel with him and he now began to dig with that, while the Skee took the shovel Uncle Wiggily had been using and he dug with that. Uncle Wiggily sat on the box and watched them. He thought they were just some tramp animals. He didn't dream they were going to play a trick on him.

But after a while Mr. Longears noticed that instead of just spading up a little bit of earth, as is done in a flower bed, the two tramps were making a deep hole.

"What's the idea of that?" asked the rabbit gentleman. "I don't want a hole in my yard. I want a flower bed."

"Ah, but we want the hole!" suddenly exclaimed the Pip.

"We want it to catch you in!" shouted the Skee.

Then Uncle Wiggily saw who the tramps were—the Pip and the Skee.

"Oh, my goodness!" said the bunny uncle. "What can I do?"

"You can't do anything!" said the Pip. "We'll do it. Push him in the hole, Skee!"

"No, you don't!" shouted another voice. "If there's going to be any pushing I'll do it!"

With that Uncle Butter, the goat gentleman, who happened to come along just then, lowered his head and with his horns he butted first the Pip and then the Skee into the hole they themselves had dug. Head over heels into the hole Uncle Butter knocked the Bad Chaps.

"Hurray!" cried Uncle Wiggily. Then he and Uncle Butter pelted the Pip and Skee with lumps of dirt until the Police Dog, for whom Nurse Jane telephoned, came and took the two make-believe tramps off to jail.

Mr. Longears thanked Uncle Butter very much. And if the corkscrew will hold, the lump of sugar on the egg beater to give it a ride like a merry-go-round, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's flower seeds.

SEA MISSIONS IN MANY PORTS

General Secretary of Missions to Seamen Arrives Here From Australia

After spending four months in Australia, during which time he inspected the twelve institutes of the Missions to Seamen, of which he is general secretary in London, Stuart C. Knox, and Mrs. Knox were visitors to Victoria for several hours yesterday evening. They arrived here from Sydney by the liner Niagara, and proceeded with the ship to Vancouver, en route to Montreal and England.

Accompanying Mr. and Mrs. Knox was Frederick A. Lakeman, wealthy retired merchant of Adelaide, who recently presented the mission with an institute in Adelaide. It is one of the finest of its kind in the world, Mr. Knox said, and cost in the neighborhood of $100,000.

When seen in the lounge of the Niagara yesterday evening, Mr. Knox spoke of the great work the Missions to Seamen are doing in practically all the great ports of the world. The institutes, Mr. Knox explained, are known to sailors as "The Flying Angeles," because of the blue house-flag with the form of a flying angel on it.

The headquarters of the missions are in London, and three institutes are maintained in the Port of London for the convenience of the thousands of sailors who annually land there. The work spreads to China, the Straits Settlements, Africa, Australia, South America and Canada. Mr. Knox has visited every institute, with the exception of those in South America. He hopes to visit them before long.

This British mission started the first seamen's missions in San Francisco in the early days. They were also in charge of missions in other Pacific Coast ports of the United States, but a few years ago they were taken over by United States authorities. The only mission in Canada is the one at Vancouver, where Mr. and Mrs. Knox will spend a few days before crossing Canada.

Rev. Thomas H. Elkington, secretary of the Mission for Seamen at Vancouver, came over to Victoria with Mrs. Elkington to greet Mr. and Mrs. Knox. They were also welcomed here by Major F. V. Longstaff, a member of the mission.

BIG BANANA CARGO HERE

With one of the largest shipments of bananas for Victoria in recent months, the Royal Mail liner Loch Monar docked at the Ogden Point piers yesterday morning at 7 o'clock from Central America. There were 800 stems in the shipment, which have been distributed to wholesalers in Victoria and to up-island centres.

The Loch Monar brought two tourist passengers for Victoria. They were Mr. and Mrs. F. P. de Hoff from Los Angeles, who brought their car, and will motor extensively on the island before returning south. There were also several passengers aboard for Vancouver.

Plan Voyage In Small Sailboat

Three Rivers, Que., April 20.—Alterations to their twenty-four-foot sailboat nearly completed and their course charted for them by a veteran seaman, the three young Trifluvians who will set sail the the middle of next month for an Atlantic crossing to Brest, France, were impatiently marking time to-day waiting for the hour of departure.

The trio is composed of Donat Dufresne, his brother, Charles-Auguste, and Wilfred Michaud.

Captain Leonidas Lemieux, formerly with Captain Joseph Bernier of Quebec in his expeditions to the north, is charting the course the adventurous trio will follow.

BERNARD SHAW LONDON BOUND

Annoyed New Zealanders By Telling Them England Was Not Their Home

Deciding now to visit Canada after all, on his way home from New Zealand, George Bernard Shaw, famous Irish playwright, and Mrs. Shaw sailed from Auckland three weeks ago by the Ss. Rangitane for London, via the Panama Canal and the West Indies, according to word brought to Victoria yesterday evening aboard the Ss. Niagara.

When Mr. and Mrs. Shaw sailed from England early in January for New Zealand it was announced they would probably return by way of Canada. They have never been in this Dominion, although they were in San Francisco and New York last year aboard the world-cruising liner Empress of Britain.

"G.B.S." annoyed New Zealanders by some of his remarks, it was stated aboard the Niagara yesterday. People in New Zealand always look upon England as home, and refer to it as such. Mr. Shaw reprimanded them for this. He said England was not their home, just as Ireland was no longer his home.

The Shaws did not go as far as Australia on their tour, but remained in New Zealand for about a month. They traveled from England aboard the same ship on which they are now returning.

CRAFT SEIZED IN VANCOUVER

Vancouver, April 20.—The fifty-four-foot motor vessel Emma K., built in Vancouver in 1925, and registered under the name of Manuel Purdy, has been seized by Customs Collector Norman De Graves in connection with her registry as a British ship, and it is understood the federal government will move in Admiralty Court for its confiscation.

The Emma K., which is alleged to have been in the rum running business, arrived in Vancouver from Ensenada, Mexico, on March 25, and has been under investigation by customs officials here ever since. It is alleged Purdy, a United States citizen, swore he was a Canadian when registering the vessel.

A wage claim of $2,356 has also been registered against the owners of the vessel by the master and engineer.

ICEBREAKER HAD DIFFICULT TRIP

North Sydney, N.S., April 20.—Ending a long battle with ice in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, the Canadian government icebreaker Montcalm limped into port yesterday evening with a damaged propeller after carrying much needed supplies to Magdalen Island.

"Ice conditions in the Gulf this season are the worst in my experience," declarec Captain Hearn, veteran skipper, as he stepped on land for the first time in three weeks.

The Montcalm, leaving here with supplies on March 29, took twelve days to reach the islands.

SPEAKS ON PORT TRADE

Capt. G. Kirkendale Tells Rotarians Something of Local Port Activities

Activities of the Port of Victoria were outlined in an interesting manner to members of the Rotary Club at their luncheon yesterday in the Empress Hotel by Capt. George Kirkendale, harbormaster. He said port activities should be of vital interest to Victorians, since, he figured, about 25 per cent of the population was either directly or indirectly concerned with the port's business.

Because the carriage of freight was much cheaper by ship than by rail, the port of Victoria was in rather an unfortunate position, Capt. Kirkendale said. Vessels went inland as far as possible and that was why Victoria found itself in the same position as Astoria, on the Columbia River, and Quebec, on the St. Lawrence.

"We have only a small port," Capt. Kirkendale said. "There are no railways to feed it and consequently we cannot develop to any great extent."

The ocean docks at Ogden Point, the speaker said, were equal to any in the world. They were 1,000 feet in length and had storage space for 20,000 tons, and could berth the largest ships in the world. He recalled the visit here of H.M.S. Hood when she was able to dock at Ogden Point. Victoria was the only port where the Hood did not have to anchor in the stream, the captain said.

LUMBER TRADE

"The lumber industry is the mainstay of the port of Victoria," Capt. Kirkendale said. "During the last year we shipped more lumber than in any other two years. We have had five freighters in port at one time. At least 150 families have been supported during the winter by this port business. The lumber trade is most important to the Port of Victoria."

Capt. Kirkendale classified the grain elevator at Ogden Point as a "white elephant." He said only three shiploads of grain were exported from it a year. The cold storage plant, in recent years had improved its business, he said. The docks at Ogden Point were sinking all the time, the captain said, and sooner or later would have to be repaired to keep the water from washing over them during the winter storms.

Capt. Kirkendale referred briefly to Seymour Narrows and its relative position to port activities in Victoria. He said a bridge system would be far too expensive and recommended a ferry which would cost about $1,000,000, instead of $100,000,000, which would be needed for the seven bridges to span Seymour Narrows. If this ferry system were started it would probably greatly affect port activities here, although many people maintained that Port Alberni would then become the centre of water trade on Vancouver Island.

R. W. Mayhew introduced Capt. Kirkendale and C. H. French, president, extended the club's thanks.

Seal Captain Is Honored

Capt. Abram Kean Returns to St. Johns in Beothic With Millionth Seal

St. John's, Nfld., April 20.—An admiring city yesterday honored Capt. Abram Kean, home from the north for the sixty-sixth time and with his millionth seal skin below the decks of the ice-scarred old sealing vessel Beothic.

It was the high spot in the life of the seventy-nine-year-old skipper, hailed on his return as the greatest seal killer of all time. Forty-seven thousand pelts were aboard his sturdy vessel as she nosed up St. John's harbor yesterday, and they brought his life-time kill to 1,007,000 seals.

No other sealing master has come near the million mark. He was completing his sixty-third season at the kill when the Beothic came back yesterday.

CATS

like to dominate cannot love cats. Only the gentle and home-loving man or woman can care for them. I would sooner win any animal with love than fear and surely there is something the matter with a person's religion if they speak or treat any animal harshly.

He liveth well who loveth well
All things great and small,
For the Lord who cares for us,
He made and cares for all.

"A FRIEND IN NEED . . !"

To the Editor:—Your paper has mentioned twice of late the case of Admiral Byrd's flagship, of which the men, when a most terrific gale was raging, fell on their knees and prayed to God asking for protection, and who, when the storm was over, gratefully expressed themselves with a "Thank God, our prayers have been answered!"

The presence of danger and calamities are often the best test of man's true attitude toward God. When things go well with us we may feel inclined to think we can quite well do without the aid of the Almighty, but when all natural resources fail us and nothing but darkness, gloom and despair stare us in the face, then it is that we appreciate the comfort of letting ourselves "go" into "the everlasting arms"!

It is in moments like those which the above-mentioned sailors went through that man realizes his limitations and his dependency upon God, for in spite of all his achievements, all his skill, all his progress, a single storm or a slight earthquake upsets his confidence in himself and causes him to throw himself upon the mercy and omnipotence of the Creator!

Those who hold in derision the men who had the courage to confess that they called for the protection of the only One able to give that protection, cannot have gone through much real trouble themselves or they would sympathize with men in need wanting a Friend indeed!

That Friend is ever ready to help all those that call upon Him as we read in Psalm 1, 15. "Call upon Me in the day of trouble: I will deliver thee, and thou shalt glorify Me!"

WOMEN'S WORKROOM

To the Editor:—To-morrow the committee of the Women's Workroom will make an appeal for the support of the public through the medium of a tag day. It is greatly to be regretted that it is not possible for the tremendous value of this organization to be more widely known. The mere fact that $50 per day is the average wage expenditure which goes into circulation, that it has been in existance for two and a half years and is making a valiant effort to stay in operation till the end of its third year, that over one hundred women look to the work they do there and the wages received as their sole means of support is important, but above all that is the fact that it has stood as a mental and moral bulwark between them and despair.

May I, as a business woman, appeal to all business people to support to the utmost of their ability this cause. Do not let a small contribution deter you—the ocean is made up of millions of drops of water but its force is tremendous.

MARGARET MERRICK HALL,
President Business and Professiona Women's Club.
